

Lay Murder Charge In Woman's Death

Former Hospital Worker Suspect Sick And Silent At Court Hearing

A 60-year-old retired hospital attendant was charged with murder in Victoria police court this morning following the death of a 24-year-old woman in a basement apartment on Simcoe Street.

Charged is Daniel Leroy Sanger, a resident of the district for five years.

Gwendolyn Dora Casswell, living apart from her husband, died in the apartment Sunday night.

Sanger reported to police the woman's body was in his apartment suite late Monday afternoon, and after police investigation was taken into custody. He appeared briefly in city police court this morning and was formally charged with murder.

Police, who have been reluctant to discuss the case, reveal only that young Mrs. Casswell's body was found on a couch in Sanger's apartment on Simcoe Street yesterday. Medical investigation has established her death occurred some time Sunday night.

There were no outward signs of violence on the body, which was fully clothed, although there were indications of hemorrhage.

Mother Cries Warning

In talking to newsmen, she cried: "If you must say something in the papers, put it so you may stop some other nice girl from doing the same thing."

William Robert Casswell, young husband of the deceased who was in the Navy until two and one-half months ago and who was working as a logger until the woods were closed, was too grief stricken to talk.

The two were married in December, 1947, in Victoria.

Sanger is a man his neighbors know little about.

In 1945 he worked for a time at Victoria Machinery Depot. For ten months in 1948 he worked as a cleaner at the D.V.A. Hospital, Richmond Road.

Sanger was part-time caretaker in the house in which he lived. He looked after the furnace for the owners who occupy the main floor.

During the week-end, the owners were visiting up-Island.

Mrs. C. Duthell, next-door neighbor, said she had known Sanger by sight since he moved Investigating police officers were understood to have picked up certain towels and surgical-type instruments at the scene, which they are holding as trial exhibits.

Mrs. Casswell, a native of Calgary, leaves a husband and two-and-a-half-year-old daughter, Janice; a mother and sister, all living near Victoria. She had been living apart from her husband during recent months, although remaining friendly toward him.

Mrs. H. M. Harlow, widowed mother of the girl, said her daughter since going to live by herself had made a serious mistake.

into the basement apartment five years ago. She said he had little to say to his neighbors, although he had sometimes chatted about his poor health.

Mrs. Duthell said Sanger very obviously suffered from asthma. She said he recently told her he was thinking of moving out of his basement suite because of this condition.

Sanger was wheezing heavily when he appeared in police court docket today. Dressed in wine jacket and grey trousers, he bowed his balding head as he listened to the charge read against him. He displayed no emotion.

Asked by presiding Magistrate Henry C. Hall whether or not he wished to address the court, he replied quietly: "No."

It was the only word he uttered. Magistrate Hall remanded the accused one week in order to give him time to hire a defence lawyer.

Circumstances concerning the actual death will likely be unfolded Thursday morning at 10 when Dr. E. C. Hart, city coroner, presides over an inquest to be held at Chaplin's Funeral Home.

Ten-Year-Old Boy Second Polio Victim

A 10-year-old Victoria boy and a second-year nursing student, both at Royal Jubilee Hospital, are the city's first two polio victims this year.

The boy contracted the disease early in August. Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical superintendent of the hospital, said today.

NURSE NOT SERIOUS

The second victim, Beverly Lake, student at St. Joseph's Hospital, is reported in satisfactory condition at the Jubilee. Admitted to hospital last Wednesday, her physician said the disease was discovered in an early stage. It had produced some paralysis, he said.

The polio season is nearing an end, according to Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, who felt there would be no further outbreak.

Little chance of an epidemic here was seen by hospital and city health authorities.

Permit Asked For Export Of Natural Gas

CALGARY (UP)—The West Coast Transmission Company has proposed to export natural gas from two sections of Alberta to supply Washington, Oregon, Idaho and British Columbia.

The proposal was made here in an application for an export permit as the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation Board opened export hearings in Seattle, Wash.

The gas would be exported through Trail, B.C., at a maximum rate of 25,000,000 cubic feet annually.

The proposed pipeline from North Alberta would originate in the Pouce Coupe field and go through Dawson Creek and Pine Pass, British Columbia, to Prince George and from there to Vancouver. From Vancouver, the pipeline would cross the international boundary to Seattle, and go on to Tacoma and Portland.

May Enlarge Markets For Processed Gold

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The International Monetary fund may relax its policy against the free sale in the world's markets of processed gold, well-informed sources predicted today.

It was learned that the United States, which had earlier opposed any relaxation of fund policy against sale of processed gold at prices higher than the fixed $35 an ounce for monetary gold, is weakening in its opposition.

Officials here believe the board will consider new regulations for recommendation to certain member governments. But it was predicted that if such regulations were not considered enforceable, then the fund would drop its objection to free sales of processed gold, such as that used industrially or for ornamentation.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year—plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible—and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

ECONOMIC PRESSURE HITS IRAN

British Financial Squeeze Protested

TEHRAN (AP)—Britain's economic pressure in the oil nationalization dispute pushed the black-market dollar rate up 20 per cent today, amid talk of an Iranian financial crisis.

The spurt in the dollar rate came as the result of a British treasury announcement restricting the use of Iranian-held sterling and stopping the conversion of Iran's pounds into dollars.

The British financial squeeze brought trouble for Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, who already faced a growing revolt in Parliament over his ultimatum to Britain to reopen talks on the nationalization of Anglo-Iranian Oil Company holdings. He has told Britain to resume talks in two weeks or have his technicians ousted from Iran.

The British answer, apparently aimed at unsettling Mossadegh, was to cut off Iran's dollar supplies, stop her transactions in sterling, end her right to convert sterling into dollars, and halt the export of scarce goods from Britain to Iran.

The first reaction here was a jump in the black market dollar rate from 54 rials Monday to 65 today, the highest rate in three years. The official value of the rial is a little more than 3 cents, or about 33 to the dollar.

LACKS APPROVAL

Premier Mossadegh's ultimatum to Britain to resume talks is being forwarded to Britain by way of Washington, but the premier meanwhile has been unable to get parliamentary approval for his move. He went ahead with his ultimatum in the face of outspoken opposition by 14 deputies who defied assassination threats from fanatical Nationalists.

The plan calls for Britain to resume negotiations on Mossadegh's oil nationalization policies or see the 300 British technicians remaining at the old Anglo-Iranian Company's Abadan refinery thrown out of the country.

Czechs Protest Action By U.S.

GENEVA (Reuters)—The Czechoslovak government declared today the United States proposal to end tariff concessions to Czechoslovakia is a "unilateral and flagrant violation of international law and international agreement."

In a memorandum submitted to the Geneva agreement on tariffs and trade on the eve of its sixth annual session, the Czech government said the United States proposal is an "outrageous attempt to achieve political ends by means of economic pressure."

Hurricanes Wane

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two hurricanes which closely approached each other near Bermuda Saturday night, were blowing themselves out over the seas today, and the weather bureau said they posed no threat to land areas.

One, called "Fox" by the weather bureau, was reported to be some 500 miles off the British Isles but not endangering any land. The other, "Easy," was roughly 500 miles southeast of Newfoundland, traveling to the northeast.

Seize Slot Machines

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation seized 1,600 slot machines and 100 cases of accessories in raids last night on four storage points here. Officials said the machines were shipped from Texas, which recently passed a law barring possession of gambling equipment after Sept. 7.

Complete's Round Trip

Twenty-two-year-old California typist, Florence Chadwick, today became first woman to swim English Channel both ways, by completing long trip from Dover, Eng., to Sangatte, France. She completed the trip in 16 hours, 14 minutes, climbing ashore shortly after reports she had been lost at sea.

FLO CHADWICK SWIMS TO RECORD

California Steno First Woman To Make English Channel Crossing Both Ways

SANGATTE, France (AP)—California's Florence Chadwick swam across the English Channel from Britain to France in near-record time today to become the first woman to swim the Channel both ways. She climbed ashore here even as police were investigating reports that she had been lost at sea.

Miss Chadwick, 32, reaching France after 16 hours and 14 minutes in the water, had started the swim from St. Margaret's Bay, near Dover, England, last night.

Crowds had been awaiting her at Cap Gris Nez, five miles to the southwest, and when she failed to make an appearance, there were fears for her safety. She had started out in a dense fog and there had been no sight of her when the fog lifted. She veered somewhat from her planned course.

Confusion attended her arrival at Sangatte, compounded by the excited French, who mistook her for a Danish swimmer, a woman who had not yet started the try from England.

Freedom Bound Czech Takes Train, Travelers

HOF, Germany (AP)—A Czech locomotive engineer made a successful dash today across the border to the freedom of West Germany, bringing with him 107 passengers in three cars.

The train was en route from Eger in Czechoslovakia to Asch near the West German border.

When the train neared Asch, it detoured on another track so that it could continue to Selb-Ploesberg, West German border station.

The locomotive engineer told surprised West German border police that he wanted to stay in West Germany along with 20 of the 107 passengers.

The engineer said the other passengers except for the 20 wanted to go back to Czechoslovakia.

Wild Oil Well Threat To Big Alberta Field

EDMONTON, Alta. (UP)—A wild oil well gushed 150 feet into the air at the rate of three barrels a minute today as workmen in asbestos suits and gas masks fought to tame it.

Provincial authorities said the well, Standard of California's 11-11, had all the markings of another Atlantic No. 3 which caught fire in the Leduc field four years ago.

Royal Canadian Mounted Police sentries were posted on all roads leading to the well and smoking in the area was banned.

Oilers worked through the night to build an artificial lake to completely flood the well. A fleet of 25 trucks hauled water from the city to fit a huge hole dug by bulldozers. The water lake would be pumped down the well.

Jack Ross, Standard Oil field boss, estimated the gusher was spewing 5,000 barrels a day. The well is located in a barley field seven miles outside the city limits.

Communists Reject Plan For New Peace Talks Site

TOKYO (Wednesday) (AP)—The United Nations command acknowledged Tuesday night that an Allied plane mistakenly strafed the Kaesong neutral zone Monday.

The Communists had not yet replied, but instead early today broadcast an official message rejecting Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's suggestion that Korean truce talks be moved to some other site.

The Communist message, broadcast by the Peiping radio in the names of North Korean Gen. Kim Il Sung and Chinese Red Gen. Peng Teh-huai, said Ridgway's proposal to move was "completely unsatisfactory and unacceptable."

The message told Ridgway "these efforts of yours are futile" and then repeated all the old Red accusations that the Allies were "obstructing" the now-suspended armistice talks and had repeatedly violated Kaesong's neutrality.

The latest Red complaint was that an Allied plane machine-gunned Kaesong before dawn Monday.

Previous Red accusations have been dismissed as falsehoods and frame-ups.

The Monday strafing, however, was found to be true.

A message being sent to the Reds today through Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief Allied truce negotiator, says: "The United Nations command regrets this violation of the agreed neutrality which resulted from the pilot's error in navigation. Appropriate disciplinary action is being initiated."

The Allied reply notes that no casualties were inflicted and only slight damage was caused.

This is the first time the U.N. command has admitted any basis to Red charges of neutrality-zone violation. The strafing charge was the 11th by the Reds.

The U.N. command statement said a plane detected by Allied radar in the Kaesong area at the time of the Red-report strafing turned out to be a U.S. bomber.

The statement continued: "Continuing radar plot including a directed identification turn and subsequent transmission indicates plane was one from third bomb group. The pilot reports having strafed lights at 1,360 m. in what he believed to be a different area but which in view of the radar plot must have been Kaesong."

"Faulty navigation on pilot's part led to error."

Earlier the Communists warned the Allies to accept Red terms for resuming stalled Korean truce talks in Kaesong or "bear the full responsibility for all the consequences."

They didn't say what "the consequences" would be. But it could only mean resumption of full fighting in Korea.

Only minor patrol action marked the western front Tuesday.

Failure of the attacks had no particular significance. In the savage fighting among peaks 2,500 to nearly 4,000 feet high it often has taken the Allies two or three or sometimes as much as 10 days to wear down sturdy Red defense.

Cargo planes parachuted almost 70 tons of supplies Tuesday to the troops in the east.

The Chinese attacks on the western front and their sudden halt puzzled observers at Eighth Army headquarters.

It was not known whether they were genuine probing attacks to feel out the Allies for a major Red blow, or whether they were merely diversionary to take the sting out of the Allied blows in the east.

Bigger Steel Production In U.S. Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defence Mobilizer Charles E. Wilson, declaring himself "shocked" at this winter's steel prospects, today rejected the steel industry's production forecast and demanded at least a 1,000,000-ton increase in the first quarter of 1952.

Wilson called for an extra 2,000,000 tons in the second quarter of next year—plus stepped-up scrap collection to make it possible—and asserted:

"This is simply a question of the security of America."

He told a meeting of scrap experts from industry and government that the mobilization program "cannot wait" for the steel industry to attain its goals "in some future quarter a year or two hence."

PLAN TO COLLECT $20,000 Backfires

Small Plot Becomes $1,000,000 Pyre For Detective, Arsonist

NEW YORK (AP)—A furtive, drawn-out plot to burn a small clothing firm to collect $20,000 insurance backfired today into triple arrests after two men died in a thunderous, $1,000,000 blast and fire.

The victims were a New York City detective and one of the alleged arsonists he had trailed into a nine-story Manhattan business building last night. The structure was wrecked when 55 gallons of gasoline blew up.

Another detective was blown through a wall, and a second accused "torch" was thrown five stories down an elevator shaft, landing in the basement atop an elevator car. Both were seriously hurt.

The terrific explosion, which police said fumbling arsonists had planned as only a minor one, shattered windows for blocks around. The fire raged out of control for more than three hours.

Charged with homicide and arson were Al Keshner, 32-year-old president of a sports coat firm on the building's fifth floor, and two alleged hirelings, Jack Weiss, 67, and Jake Mayron, 59.

The other alleged arsonist—named as the man who set off the fuse and who died in the ensuing holocaust—was Moe Shapiro.

Assistant District Attorney Al Herman said Keshner admitted that discouragement over loss of an account had led him to hire the gang for $1,350 to burn his plant so he could collect insurance.

"It's one of the most unusual crimes I've seen," said Detective Chief Conrad Rothengast.

Detectives, who had been watching the four men for 40 days, said an open drum had been filled with gasoline—far too much for burning Keshner's plant—and a fuse of cord strung out some distance from the drum.

The four men were seen entering the building. When Keshner and Mayron emerged, they were arrested. Two other detectives, Howard Phelan and James Daggett, slipped along the corridors, watching the others.

Then came the blast. The charred bodies of Daggett and Shapiro were recovered later.

The explosion on West 18th Street just off Fifth Avenue—shook a large area. Damage to the building, its contents and the surrounding area may exceed $1,000,000, fire officials said. Thirty-five pieces of fire apparatus responded to five alarms.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

AS I noted in yesterday's column, many of the yellowing copies of the combination journals and parliamentary reports recently found in an old desk in Victoria were devoted to the grimmer happenings of the 17th century. Life was evidently very real, very earnest in those days, if these ancient chronicles are any criterion.

As an example, "The Newes Published for the Satisfaction and Information of the People. With Privilege," of July 6, 1665, deals only with the Plague. Incidentally, I wonder if that reference, in its title, to "privilege" implies that the Newes was published only for the privileged classes. It probably does, as only the rich were educated in those days and there were no press pictures for the enlightenment of the illiterate.

ANGER'S MEDICAMENTS

IT may seem strange to modern ideas, but the Secretary of State of that day, Lord Arlington, commanded the Newes "to publish the following advertisement to satisfy all persons of the great care of the Right Honorable the Lords of His Majesties most Honorable Privy Council for prevention of spreading of the infection."

The advertisement, which is in ordinary news form, "authorizes and requires the Justices of the Peace for the County of Middlesex and City and Liberties of Westminster, or any five of them, to treat with James Angler, Esquire, upon his offer of certain Remedies and Medicaments for stopping the contagion of the Plague and for the disinfecting of houses already infected, etc."

DYED, FULL OF SPOTS

TO bolster up public morale and induce the fullest use of the Angler's remedies, the Newes gave details of experiments made to test the efficacy of the medicament. Sworn testimony was given that, "after four several persons had dyed full of spots out of the said house and eight more remained therein whereof two were infected with the Plague," the Angler's medicaments had been applied and "no person had dyed in the same house since the same was used therein."

Prominence is also given in the same issue to "Orders Conceived and Published by the Lord Mayor and Aldermen of the City of London" concerning the Plague. These call for the appointment of Examiners, Searchers, Watchmen, Keepers and Buriers to undertake the grim duties imposed by the disastrous epidemic.

WOMEN SEARCHERS

ONE of the most interesting of such regulations has to do with the appointment of women searchers. It is quaintly expressed as follows:

"That there be special care to appoint Women Searchers in every parish, such as are of honest reputation and of the best sort as can be got of this kind; and these to be sworn to make due search and true report to the utmost of their knowledge, whether the persons whose bodies they are appointed to search, do die of the infection or of what other disease, as near as they can. And that the Physicians who shall be appointed for the several parishes under their respective cares, to the end they may consider whether they (the women searchers) are fitly qualified for that appointment, and charge them, from time to time, as they shall see cause, if they appear defective in their duties."

TWELFEPENCE A BODY

THE city authorities also ruled that "able and discreet Chirurgions, besides those that do already belong to the pest house" be appointed to help search the bodies and that the said Chirurgions "shall have twelvecence a body searched by them, to be paid out of the goods of the party searched, if he be able, or otherwise by the Parish."

The final regulation among those published over the signatures by Sir John Lawrence, Lord Mayor, and Sir Charles Waterman and Sir Charles Doe, Sheriffs, will also interest today's health authorities:

"That precise order be taken that the Searchers, Chirurgions, Keepers and Buriers are not to pass the streets without holding a Red Rod or Wand of three feet in length in their hands, open and to be seen, and are not to go into any other house than into their own, or unto that whereunto they are directed or sent for, but to forbear and abstain from company, especially when they have been lately used in such business or attendance."

Hunter, 1015 Parkland Drive, $200; Ernest W. Bird, 2823 Dysart Road, $400; William H. Power, Nanaimo, $600; and William R. Varley, Santa Clara Avenue, Royal Oak, $150.

FIRE THREATENS CHRISTENDOM

Church Rally Point, Clutterbuck Asserts

The church today is the only rallying point around which men may join the world-wide struggle against materialism now striving to gain possession of the soul of man, Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, U.K. High Commissioner to Canada, told a dinner meeting of Anglican laymen last night.

The dinner, held in Memorial Hall, was attended by 350 people, including Archbishop W. F. Barfoot, newly-elected Anglican Primate of All Canada, Premier Byron Johnson and Mayor Percy E. George.

The guest speaker opened his address with a tribute to Archbishop Barfoot and stressed the close brotherly relations between the Anglican Church in Canada and the mother church in England.

SEEKS TO DENY GOD

He called for increased support of the church among laymen in the struggle against the powerful appeal of the new materialism which seeks to deny God.

In stressing that good intentions are not enough, he pointed out the necessity of bringing our society more into line with Christian values. He described remuneration of the clergy in England as "miserably little" and did not doubt that present living costs in Canada had brought about a similar condition here.

"This is something that only laymen can right," he said.

He compared Christians living under a world-wide threat to villagers menaced by a gigantic forest fire.

"We should co-operate even more closely, and develop our combined strength in a united front," the speaker said.

Archbishop Barfoot, in reply to a toast, spoke of the need for personal conversion and personal interest in his religion on the part of every man.

He saw a great future for the Church of England in Canada, and ended his address with a prayer that God would give him strength, courage, faith and hope in his new office as primate.

High Praise For Duncan Hospital

DUNCAN — Board of King's Daughters' Hospital was complimented Monday by Sydney Smith, M.L.A. for Kamloops and chairman of the Hospital Insurance Inquiry board, which paid a courtesy visit to the hospital in the afternoon.

Members of the board considered it one of the best operated institutions in the province. Capt. D. J. Proudfoot of Victoria asked why the hospital's $325,000 budget had been cut only $1,400, when much smaller institutions with budgets of only $30,000 had taken $5,000 or $6,000 cuts.

Harry Baxendale, administrator, explained that King's Daughters' Hospital had budgeted so close to actual expenditures that the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service could find no place to cut expenses. He explained his system of keeping a check on actual expenses against budget estimates.

The question of a drop in hospital insurance premium payments because of the long woods lay-offs was raised by Mr. Wellburn, who asked what provision the B.C.H.I.S. was going to make.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY MUST CORRECT CONSTIPATION — OR WE PAY DOCTOR'S FEE!

NEVER BEFORE has there been such a constipation corrective with such assurance of positive relief!

No laxative in medical history can offer proof of such action and results! Easy-to-take Melcalose tablets give gentle, corrective relief without purging or griping... correct years of constipation and maintain that normal function without harsh drugs.

Actual medical records prove that Melcalose can restore normal regularity in as little as 7 days—even in people who have suffered from constipation for 20 or 30 years!

HERE AT LAST is a material that causes no stomach upset, passes unchanged through the digestive system, goes to work only after it reaches the place where constipation occurs... in the clogged, sluggish colon! This means that without violent purging, sickening nausea or digestive disturbances of any kind, without the endless inconvenience of messy seeds or granules, slippery oils or bitter salts... you at last experience natural, normal elimination!

MELCALOSE DISSOLVES into a mild, non-purging gel which mixes completely with the contents of the colon to provide gentle, corrective relief; to produce light, smooth bowel movements. Once this rhythmic activity is restored and maintained, constipation no longer exists!

Melcalose is not a laxative... but a bowel regulator! Melcalose tablets produce no stomach upset, nausea, cramps or diarrhea. They do not lose their effectiveness with use. No increase in Melcalose dosage will ever be necessary.

YOU DON'T NEED A DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION for Melcalose tablets. They're HARMLESS TO TAKE EVEN OVER A LONG PERIOD OF TIME! Remember Melcalose gives assurance of results that no laxative has ever dared offer! They're at your druggists now, in bottles of 65 and 130 tablets. Get a bottle and start correcting your constipation, today!

MELCALOSE DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHERS!

ORDINARY "LAXATIVES" OFTEN UPSET ENTIRE DIGESTIVE TRACT

MELCALOSE TABLETS GO TO WORK WHERE CONSTIPATION ACTUALLY TAKES PLACE... HAVE REMARKABLE SOOTHING COLON-ACTION.

Continual use of harsh laxatives tends to upset entire digestive tract; draw off needed water; may prolong constipation indefinitely... Melcalose Tablets have effect only where constipation takes place! Do not interfere with vitamin and mineral absorption.

RESIDENTS OF THIS AREA:

Take MELCALOSE TABLETS according to simple directions. Should you fail to find positive corrective relief within 7 days, we believe you should see your doctor promptly—and we will pay for the visit on the same scale and basis provided for general medical care in the Associated Medical Services or Physicians' Services Incorporated plans—when your doctor certifies that your constipation was not corrected. This is our pledge to you—that MELCALOSE will bring the relief you need!

Loggers Stream Back To Woods

Union Appears Reluctant To Grant 6-Day Work Week

British Columbia logging operators, anxious to catch up on lost production caused by the forest closure, are waiting for union locals to decide if they will approve a six-day work week.

Management recently asked the International Woodworkers of America (C.C.L.) if loggers would work the extra day at least until the annual shutdown caused by the snow. I.W.A. officials have said it is a matter of negotiation between companies and locals. Votes have been taken but the results not announced.

Operators contend the plan would allow them to catch up on the huge backlog of work and at the same time enable the workers to make up for wages lost during the drought.

The union, which fought long and hard for the five-day week, seems reluctant to approve the extra day's work because they feel it might be the "thin edge of the wedge."

15,000 BACK TO WORK
Meanwhile, some 15,000 loggers are streaming back to work in British Columbia timberlands after a two-month layoff. The closure affected about 2,000 logging operations in the Vancouver Forest District which takes in the southwestern section of the province and Vancouver Island.

Loggers packed into every available plane and ship which would take them back to work. Airline and steamship companies said the rush would probably continue for another three or four days.

At Nanaimo, the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Ltd. required 20 special buses to transport about 500 loggers to Port Alberni, Campbell River and Lake Cowichan. The men arrived on the regular steamers from the Mainland.

GLAD OF WAGES

There was happy jostling on boat decks as loggers searched for nooks and crannies to throw down their bedrolls. Many had been scraping by on unemployment insurance cheques for weeks. They were glad to be going back to the woods and wages.

Logging operators on Vancouver Island this morning were optimistic about the chances of having full-strength crews on the job within the week. They didn't fear a shortage of labor because of men taking other jobs during the long layoff.

"A lot of the boys took other jobs during the drought, but they are all coming back to the logging camps now," said one official. "Logging pays better than most jobs."

If you were a bee, you could, as bees do, use your wings as a fan to cool the house. But while bees are busy ventilating, they can't be gathering honey. So hives with aluminum roofs (ten to fifteen degrees cooler) make bees more efficient. Some day aluminum houses may do the same for housewives.

Aluminum is an ideal insulator for hives—and homes. This is one of a dozen reasons why the demand for aluminum is growing rapidly, and why we are building new plants and powerhouses to make more aluminum. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Admission Of Greece, Turkey Top Subject For NATO Parley At Ottawa

OTTAWA (BUP) — External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson scheduled conferences with L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to London, today to get the latest word on preparations for the conference of North Atlantic Treaty organizations.

Pearson flew back to Ottawa Monday night from San Francisco, where he signed the Japanese peace treaty for Canada. Wilgress, Canadian permanent delegate to the N.A.T.O. council, arrived from London during the week-end.

Pearson planned to confer with Wilgress on several key points before going before a meeting of the federal cabinet later in the week to thrash out final policies for the Canadian delegation. These include:

1. Admission of Greece and Turkey to NATO.
2. Allocation of Canadian newspaper for European consumers.
3. Further contributions by Canada to the common European defense pool.

4. Ironing out administrative links to make N.A.T.O. more streamlined.

EXPECT FEW DECISIONS

The N.A.T.O. secretariat is arriving daily from London and will meet Friday to make final agenda arrangements for the conference. The draft agenda has not been published, but it was understood the conference would try to reach few formal decisions in its week-long meeting, starting Saturday.

The N.A.T.O. Council is scheduled to meet again next month in Rome. The Ottawa conference was planned primarily as a preliminary airing of views for the Rome conference. Most of the delegates who will attend the Ottawa talks were at last week's San Francisco Japanese Peace Treaty conference.

The British High Commissioner's office announced Monday that Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison, Defense Minister Emmanuel Shinwell and Chancellor of the Exchequer Hugh Gaitskell would all attend the N.A.T.O. meeting. Morrison was at San Francisco and both Shinwell and Gaitskell are in Washington.

Canada was reported not overly enthusiastic about the admission of Greece and Turkey to N.A.T.O. but will not oppose their entry. The Canadian government is anxious to keep N.A.T.O. within the family of North Atlantic and western European nations.

Gyros Elect J. F. Cameron As President

J. F. "Jamie" Cameron, logging operator of 304 Beechwood Avenue, has been elected by acclamation Victoria Gyro Club president for the next year.

Chosen by voting at the club's annual meeting Monday night at Club Sirocco were Denis Humphries, vice-president, and George Barr, Robert Crawford, and C. H. Shanks, directors.

Also elected by acclamation were John Feilden, treasurer, and William C. Hudson, secretary for the 16th consecutive year.

Those elected will take office Sept. 21 at the annual installation dinner to be held that night at Club Sirocco, to be attended by members and their wives.

'Counterthrust'

PARIS (Reuters)—Britain will provide most of the forces, armor and equipment for the biggest post-war, Allied army-air manoeuvres opening in Germany Friday, Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers, Europe, announced last night. The 10-day exercise, named "Counterthrust," will show the North Atlantic military alliance in action for the first time since Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower set up his supreme command here.

Freight Rate Hearings Adjourned Until Jan. 10

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of transport today adjourned until next January 10, considerations of a voluminous study of freight-rate equalizations across Canada.

The long document, prepared by Canada's two transcontinental railways at the Board's request, was formally filed today at an initial hearing at which counsel for eight provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec—were represented.

The study was made as part of the Board's general freight-rate inquiry. The investigation, aimed at general rate equalization, has been in progress more than three years.

Mr. Justice M. B. Archibishop, the Board's chief commissioner, said he set the four-month adjournment because he wanted everyone interested to have a chance to make representations, but he wanted to get the hearings cleared up as quickly as possible.

DOUBLE PRESENT RATES

HALIFAX (CP)—The Halifax Chronicle-Herald said in a newspaper story today a proposal by Canadian Railways for equalization of freight rates across the country would approximately double present rates in the Maritimes.

The newspaper quoted Rand H. time Transportation Commission, as saying that the M.T.C. contends equalization of freight rates as proposed by the railways is "impossible of achievement."

The Price Of Food

THE CANADIAN GOVERNMENT'S attack on inflation by credit restrictions of various sorts inevitably affects manufactured goods first and most effectively. People can be discouraged from buying non-essential luxuries. They still must eat. Hence the first test of the government's policy must be sought in the manufacturing area.

In the first half of 1951 the cost of living rose about 15 points. Over nine points were in foodstuffs. But in the last month of public record all prices including foodstuffs showed significant rises. Clearly in the sensitive area, where the government's policy could be expected to work, it is not yet working. As to food prices we must remember that they are dictated in many main items by the American price level. The price of meat is the bugbear of every Canadian housewife but it is set in the United States, because we sell so much of our beef there and thus earn essential dollars for the purchase of American goods. The price of many other food articles is fixed by the American or the world price of raw foodstuffs.

In the case of meat, which has become a kind of symbol of the high cost of living, we could only resist the American price if we stopped shipping our beef across the border. Then, with our surplus supplies at home, prices would fall. But if we prevent our farmers from earning the money they can get in the United States, assuredly, in practical politics and in justice, we shall have to compensate them with subsidies, paid by the taxpayers. The housewife would pay for meat through taxes instead of paying at the store.

There is, however, a larger aspect to this question which we should never forget. If we embargo exports to the United States, we can expect American retaliation immediately.

Canada needs all sorts of American goods, essentials mostly and not luxuries. It desperately needs such things as American steel, of which the United States itself is short. The American government has been strongly pressed by local interests to keep its steel and other things at home instead of selling them to us. This pressure has been resisted. The American government, by a wise and generous policy, has treated Canada, in the allocation of scarce goods, virtually as part of the United States. We have received our share of these things and without them would suffer devastating consequences to our armament program and to our consumers.

We cannot afford to answer this generosity by telling the Americans that we will not let them have our goods if they are scarce at home, for two can play that game. In such a scramble, Canada, not the United States, would be the chief victim. If the United States is pushed into retaliatory measures not only could our supplies of vital American goods be reduced or cut off but, in the politics of Congress, we might well find our American market for the goods we have in abundance sharply reduced, to the benefit of American industries and the damage of our own.

Through Hardship, To The Stars

A NEWS STORY OF THE DAY added emphasis to one of the points made by Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom, in his address to the Canadian Club here yesterday. While the British representative was discussing the difficulties faced by his country in meeting civilian needs and maintaining its armaments program, announcement was received here of new ration cuts effective in Britain. The weekly allowances of cheese and butter for individual purchasers have dropped from four ounces to two and from four to three respectively. In the immediate future the bacon ration will also be reduced.

These are staples of a British diet on which the nation is driving its production machine. The progress made in that drive was indicated by the figures Sir Alexander quoted. Productivity, the national output, now amounts to half as much again as in 1946. Exports, which at the end of the war were 30 per cent of the 1938 volume, have risen to 180 per cent of the pre-war figures.

General improvement, he noted, had been shown in overcoming dollar deficiencies and had Britain been given another year under conditions similar to the first half of 1950, it could have looked forward to a general relaxation of import and exchange restrictions. Because of conditions imposed by Korea and other tensions, those hopes must again be relegated to the future. In their place, austerity-ridden Britain looks to leaner rations.

It is nevertheless the conviction of the British High Commissioner that the strength of the Atlantic Triangle—Britain, Canada and the United States—will overcome the difficulties which still face his nation, that whatever the surface differences and whatever the temptations that may come our way, they need cause no fear if the spirit that exists in the Commonwealth can be developed in the wider limits of the Atlantic Triangle.

There is inspiration in the message left by Sir Alexander Clutterbuck. His was the story of high achievement by the British people from the impoverishment of the Second World War. Above that it is a story of the spirit—the will of a people which is not downed, which, facing renewed belt-tightening and trade difficulties, refuses to consider defeat.

'Fantastic, Stupendous, Amazing ...'

ON THE EVE OF THE PEACE treaty conference last week, President Truman told a San Francisco audience that the United States now possesses new weapons that can only be described as "fantastic." But other words have been added. Various U.S. senators have termed the arms "stupendous," "startling," "amazing," and "beyond imagination."

These are adjectives bound to excite the curiosity of the people of the United States and their allies. They may likewise be designed to inspire fear and caution in foreign powers considering aggressive moves. It would be a mistake on their part to dismiss the hints as bluff. The money and energy being devoted to weapons research today might well produce results meriting such descriptions. We have read of the proximity fuse, developed in the last war, which explodes a missile upon reaching a certain position above ground forces. We have read of the later development of guided missiles, of flying bombs which seek out their targets by electronic means, of atomic warheads designed for use in artillery. New inventions, and combinations of old ones, can easily lead us into the Buck Rogers realm of armaments. As President Truman has suggested, we are already "well across the portals of that imaginative territory."

The cost of such research and production is equally subject to the terms "fantastic," "stupendous," "amazing." The United States has just passed a military spending bill amounting to no less than $61 billions. That represents $400 for each man, woman and child in the nation—an amount undreamed of in previous emergencies. An unspecified sum has been set aside for the new weapons to which we have referred. When the greatest industrial power in the world starts rearming, there is almost no limit to its ultimate goal. In that fact lies the strength of the west today, and the hope that would-be aggressors will be discouraged.

What Of The Tweedsmuir Surveys?

IN THE CLOSING DAYS OF THE last session of the legislature this newspaper found satisfaction in commending Lands and Forest Minister E. T. Kenney on his forthright statement regarding clearing of lake margins for the Aluminum Company of Canada hydro project in Tweedsmuir Park. At that time Mr. Kenney stated every tree liable to be killed by flooding would be salvaged. The hope was expressed in these columns that ensuing announcements would show the results of surveys preceding logging operations. Today, five months later, it would be gratifying to the public to know what reports have been submitted on the question.

Has the government been informed of the number of board feet in the trees which lie in the area to be inundated?

A Limit To Patience

WHILE THE DOUKHOBOR PROBLEM in this province is one that admits of no further delay in settlement, relocation of the troublesome Sons of Freedom should not be hurried to the extent that the nuisance is merely removed from the environs of one community to another.

The protests of the people of Kamloops, near which it has been proposed the malcontent Doukhobors be settled, will have the full sympathy of other residents of British Columbia. The renewed outbreak of unrest during the past few days—in direct contravention of previous undertakings by the Sons of Freedom to preserve the peace—adds point to the protests of any community threatened by the incursion of such

Have the required on-the-spot surveys been made?

The questions are pertinent because the public of British Columbia realizes the importance to the provincial economy of our forest wealth and the necessity to avoid any loss through sacrifice of trees at a time when our rate of cutting is greater than replacement through natural growth and reforestation.

A factual report on the amount of timber involved and the action that has been taken to avoid waste, a repetition of the assurance that marginal regions will be cleared and that cutting will not extend to a point marring Tweedsmuir Park beauty when the lakes have been raised, are surely matters on which the public should be kept informed.

The bounds of this province must surely be vast enough to afford a location of such seclusion and inaccessibility that the Sons of Freedom community could be swallowed up and forgotten for a generation or two. If their quarrel is with organized society, then let society be rid of them. The exhortation of the attorney-general's department to maintain an "open mind" should be followed by definite action.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

EACH YEAR about this time a certain society repairs to a most delightful resort on the shores of a certain inlet. And there the members discuss world problems and other holiday matters.

They invite a distinguished master of ceremonies (or master of the revels) and all sorts of speakers who are experts in their own lines of political economy, social studies or almost anything of that kind. And across the flickering light of the camp fire goes many a flickering discussion.

Like the smoke, the discussion is sometimes up in the air (if I know discussions), though in the matter of talk it doesn't follow that where there's haziness there must be a good idea in theory, and seems quite a bit of an idea in practice, too. Quite apart from the good swimming, fishing, scenery and grub, I mean.

BUT IN ALL such gatherings, a few over-pensive guests can introduce a slightly flat-footed heaviness that grows oppressive after two or three evenings. Accordingly, those who made the arrangements this year were bold enough to invite a friend of mine who is apt to become flippant, jocular, and disrespectful. "The rest are so sensible," he was told, "you'd be a pleasant change." Being, as I say, a bit of a comedian, he didn't take this left-handed compliment amiss, but said he would consider the offer. He asked how much they'd be willing to pay him to brighten things up by means of a speech or two, plus constant heckling of other speakers.

OH, THEY SAID, pay didn't enter into things at all. Whereupon my pal said he couldn't see his way clear to attending. "You see," he explained, "as a professional entertainer, I don't mind showing off for money. The motive is understandable, and even modest. But to show off free—that would be bumptious, arrogant, self-satisfied, vain, ostentatious, and discourteous." Knowing him well, I think he should have added "and not wholly dependable." I'd advise any engaging him to make a firm contract. And you can't have a contract without what the lawyers call consideration... value received on both sides.

FREE OF CHARGE

TALKING OF people wanting you to do things free, I myself have been at the receiving end of mighty odd requests in my time... requests from people who assure you it will be no trouble to you at all, and a great convenience to me. One of the mildest annoyances more than some of the major impositions. I can't say why. This is the request to carry parcels all over the world when they could just as well be posted. Many of my friends have never heard of parcel post. And I particularly loathe being asked to write something, free of charge, and being assured "I won't take you a minute, old boy. Besides, you're banging a typewriter all day anyhow." Sometimes these chaps don't even know what they want said. Sometimes they suggest putting part of it into verse... "you can do that stuff on your head, and a jingle always helps a lot, doesn't it?" Once in a while they get paid for what I've written.

THE LIST is endless, of course. But I think the very oddest request was addressed to my mother, long a victim of odd requests. An acquaintance, with whom she had little enough in common, had a moderately dangerous hobby which she shared with her husband. And one day she came to my mother and said, "You know, one day my husband and I may both be killed. If that happens, we want you to adopt our little girl." And this with the air of one bestowing a gift.

Not too many years ago and not too far from here, there was what is called a summer theatre. It produced, not so badly, a fresh play every week during the summer. The cast was entirely made up of young professionals, and much was made of this fact in the press... there was nothing amateur about the show, and it was a great credit to the outfit that they could make a success of things while depending on the box-office as they did, and so on. I was talking to a professional actress about the fun the company must be having, and she said yes, she wished she could go to begin with, but she couldn't. She couldn't afford to act free all summer, depending entirely as she did on what wages she could pick up.

"Still," she said, "it was a nice compliment to my clothes, if they give the impression I am rich enough to work free all summer. Unless the invitation meant I must be perpetually unemployed!"

I HASTEN to add that she wasn't contemptuous of this summer theatre. Nor am I. Theatre on half a shoestring is better than no theatre at all, both for public and actor. And you've got to begin most things at a loss, and work up from there.

You must also advertise your talents; summer losses may lead to winter jobs. And lots of people are glad to work free anyhow. The only thing that made me laugh in this particular case was the way in which the lack of payment was carefully hushed up. Hushed up at the instance of the management and not of the press, I am quite sure, so that nobody would get the impression that it was amateur acting. When I say hushed up, I give a very negative air to things... there was terrific emphasis all summer on the "full-time professional" stuff.

MR. DOOLEY I WAS WONDERING the other day if anyone read Mr. Dooley any more, and a friend of mine said "No. You can find Mr. Dooley only in books, and people don't read many books. Mr. Dooley would agree with them. You recall what he said about books?" I said "Only roughly." He said "Well, I remember exactly. Dooley said 'Speaking for myself, I don't read books. I find them too stummy/ating. I can get the same wrong ideas of life from drink.' What an excellent motto for a bookplate. Or for a library. Never forget that Karl Marx owed everything to the British Museum's reading room."

THE BRITISH MUSEUM I CAN TELL you two things about the reading room of the British Museum. One of them is about the well-known author who asked in a loud voice to be shown the bawdy books. The other is about George Gissing, who was in the habit of taking an almost complete bath in the washroom until a sign was put up: "For casual ablation only."

Just a word of congratulation on the success of your and the members' efforts on behalf of the Arts Centre. It is a worthy enterprise, and it is to be hoped that the new gallery will be carried forward as planned.

... SUPPORT ...

"Big oaks from little acorns grow." No one will deny the truth of this old saying. It is therefore a sincere pleasure to see the acorn emerging into the shape of a tree spreading its branches to welcome into a new home those who love art and the cultural side of life. How much the people of Victoria are indebted to Miss Sara Spencer and her family and to the City Council for the new Arts Centre!

... FOR THE ...

How heartening it is in these rushing, restless days to read the fine editorial in last Friday's Times—"Not by Bread Only."

The subject has been so thoroughly and so clearly expressed by the writer that I feel there is nothing I could add. But as one long interested in art and art galleries I would like to express my heartfelt thanks to the Times and to all those selfless citizens who have worked so hard to make it possible to accept Miss Sara Spencer's generous gift of her home in order that Victoria may at last have an Art Centre of which to be proud—and who knows what dreams may mature in the future from such beginnings?

... ARTS ...

Your paper is to be congratulated on its stand in favor of acceptance of the Spencer home as an Arts Centre. Also the president, Mrs. A. S. Wyllie, and the Arts Centre committee and all those who have worked towards what will be a great asset to Victoria.

At the meeting last Thursday evening we witnessed the urgency of the need of the Spencer house when the present Broughton Street Arts Centre had so many guests—members and visitors who were forced to stand due to lack of chairs and space. The value in the establishment of this new Arts Centre proves that the public is becoming aware that culture, the arts of painting, sculpture, music, drama etc., are a part of daily living, not just for a few artistically-minded individuals, but an enrichment of all society in things spiritual as well as material.

Grateful thanks to all concerned.

... CENTRE

I think a great many people have an entirely erroneous idea about the Arts Centre of Greater Victoria.

Mrs. Marshall writes about the "Arts Centre crowd." Who are the "Arts Centre crowd"? If they are just a few "arty" people in Victoria then that is the fault of the rest of the citizens of Victoria.

An Arts Centre should consist of every citizen who is interested in art in its many forms, not just those who can paint a picture.

By having the Spencer home as an art gallery many potential plans could be brought to fulfillment, not the least of which would be children's art classes. The City Council and the Times are to be congratulated on their stand in this important matter.

MUM'S THE WORD

The heading in Tuesday's Times, Sept. 4: "R.C.M.P. Keeps Mum on Search of Sons of Freedom Homes," delights me.

If, as we are constantly assured, the "R.C.M.P. always gets their man" there can be no doubt whatever of their ultimate success since "Mum" is to be kept on the search—for "Mum" is the best home-maker. Best wishes to our gallant force.

A REBUTTAL

Mr. Ralph Pashley, the "impartial" radio commentator, contradicts himself regarding Buttle Lake.

In one breath he condemns the desire of the B.C. Power Commission to bottle up Buttle Lake, and then taking another deep breath, proclaims that continued logging operations will make our province "a naked land." Mr. Pashley has visited Strathcona Park and must be aware that many of the park's finest trees lie along the shores of Buttle Lake. If the B.C. Power Commission have their way, these trees will either be logged or drowned.

Mr. Pashley stated that the defenders of Strathcona Park are guided by political considerations. I respectfully submit that this statement was rash, misleading, grossly unfair and absolutely untrue. Not one of the small voluntary societies, who pit themselves, so successfully, against the might of the Power Commission have any interest at heart other than the preservation of our public parks and the beauty and natural resources of our province.

Further, Mr. Pashley told his listeners that the B.C. Power Commission have not acted in a dictatorial manner. Then will be good enough to explain in his "impartial" radio broadcast why the Power Commission secured, long before the present inquiry opened, an Order-in-Council authorizing the Commission to store water in Buttle Lake—and tell us why this Order was never published in the B.C. Gazette?

Under Our Roof

By JOHN RHODES STURDY

WHEN the telephone rang last night and my wife answered it and said: "Just a moment, please," I began to get the shakes right off. "Someone for you, dear," she said, and I went to the phone with the firm conviction that it would be Hattie's tell-ing me that he and Col. S. Skeffington Smuts (Ret.) and Anastasia Wiggs - Wiggs and Little Augie were at last on their way to the island.

When a voice said: "Has Little Augie arrived?" my nervous tremors turned to indignation, thinking it was another of Little Augie's custom-ers. I wish to go on record as saying that if Little Augie intends to open a blind pig on this island it's not going to be in my house, and that's what I started to tell the man on the other end of the line.

He interrupted to say that he was one of my old schoolmasters from Back East, out here on a holiday, and I was surprised and delighted. It was very good to hear his voice again, and I came away from the telephone feeling happy that he had thought of calling me. It put me in a sentimental mood and I went upstairs to the back cupboard and pulled out a frayed and dusty copy of the old school annual, and pretty soon I was lost in a whirl of memories.

Earlier I had been reading an editorial on juvenile delinquency, and now looking at those young faces staring at me out of the pages of the school annual, it suddenly struck me that in those days the "kids" were not only delinquent—we were downright criminal.

OLD SYSTEM

And the masters knew how to handle us. Maybe these modern progressive schools are all right, but there was a lot to be said about the old system. The other day a friend from the U.S.A. told me that if a teacher laid a hand on a pupil down there, the teacher would not only be fired, but there would be at least a Congressional inquiry over it.

In my school, where the masters wore gowns and looked like masters, we had a leather strap that was so thick and solid that when it was held out straight it didn't bend a fraction of an inch. That strap had authority. I remember one time when the master who called me on the telephone yesterday—he taught history—gave a licking to the entire class, for good reason. I was away down near the end, and when I sauntered into the cloakroom to get my share of the strap, I was pretty confident that he had worn himself out on the 23 boys who had preceded me.

"Get that snicker off your face," he told me. "Think I'm tired? My boy, I'm just warming up."

Later I was glad that I was not at the end of the class, when he was through his warm-up and really clicking. But as I say, we deserved all we got, and probably a lot more. We were definitely criminal types, and it seems amazing that most of us are now regarded as worthwhile citizens. Even blackmail was not beneath us.

I remember being banished from a certain weekly class for pouring a large pot of glue over my neighbor's head. In the weeks that followed I put the idle hours to good advantage—in the second row centre of the Gaity Theatre.

BETTER THEATRE

The Gaity was a burlesque house. And in those days burlesque was much better theatre than most of the musical comedies today. It was the time of the famous Columbia Wheel—of great artists like Sliding Billy Watson—and GIRLS.

There was a matinee every day, so off the afternoon each week when I was banished from school I would grab the first streetcar for downtown.

One intermission, when the house lights came up and the hawkers started to peddle their peanuts and candy, I prepared to leave my seat, and as I did I turned around and faced the person in the row behind me. I nearly dropped through the floor.

Sitting there, looking at me with startled eyes, was the physics master from our school.

I don't know which of us was more shocked—I only remember that I scuttled out of the theatre and never went back on a week-day again.

I think, too, that I failed in most of my subjects that year. Except physics. I think I did my class in physics.

Did I hear my conscience whisper blackmail?

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TORIN

"It's funny," said the Elevator Man, "how a thing can have such different meanings to different people. Our personal attitude determines our reaction to life. That's what makes it so hard to reach any agreement on what it's all about. With so many personal attitudes there's too many reactions. For instance, a person coming into a living room from a hot kitchen may find the room chilly. But to another person coming in from the cold outdoors it may feel too warm."

How can you ever get them to agree on that? And that's a simple case. When it comes to religion, politics, philosophy, life itself, there's little hope of getting together. The amazing thing is that even a few of us can get our views lined up. Mezzanine!

"What makes it harder," said the Elevator Man, "is that we're always changing our ideas anyway. We shift things to adjust to new situations, like that doctor whose patient told him, 'We're such old friends I'm not going to insult you by paying my bill. But I'll leave you a handsome legacy in my will.' Very nice of you," said the doc. "By the way, just let me have that prescription again. There's a slight change I'd like to make in it." Going down!

"What complicates it," said the Elevator Man, "is that often we don't even realize what our own state of mind is. We're like that golfer who, after a bad shot, in savage tight-lipped silence, one by one broke his clubs over his knee. 'A silly thing to do,' remarked his opponent. 'It's better than losing your temper,' grated the golfer."

HOME GARDEN

by Jack Beasly

The second week of September brings another round of jobs which have to be fitted into the gardener's schedule.

Jack Beasly, a horticulturist, explains the best way to handle the cuttings of some of our favorite plants by means of cuttings.

Choice pansies and violas are handled in this manner, also pentstemon, calceolarias, pelargonium, any of the perennials which have young growths, and many of our flowering shrubs.

The easiest way to handle the cuttings is to put them in a cold-frame which can be given protection during severe weather.

One gardener will use a flat (box) filled with sandy loam for each kind of plant, setting the flats into a frame for the winter.

Another will put a one-inch layer of sand over the soil in a frame and dibble in the cuttings in rows. Either way is satisfactory.

The pelargonium cuttings will not stand frost; these will have to be kept indoors after the weather breaks.

While the frames which hold the outdoor cuttings will have to be shaded for the next few weeks, they must have plenty of air at all times, and the glasses should be closed only when weather is very bad.

Softwood cuttings (growing tips or side-shoots with heels) will root easily during the mild fall season, and the ripened wood of shrubs and roses will have good roots systems by spring.

If carnation layers have received plenty of moisture they will now have good roots and may be severed from the parent stem and placed in a coldframe for the winter. Where roots have not yet formed, the trouble is due to insufficient moisture, a condition which should be remedied at once so that the plants can be placed under protection, as soon as possible.

Bramble fruits and rambler roses may be increased by tip-layering. The tips of the canes are covered with a little soil and held in place with a wooden peg, piece of hairpin shaped wire, or just a rock. The young plants remain until spring when they are separated from the cane and transferred to permanent quarters.

Raspberries may be increased in this way, although the young plants from the runners will be satisfactory.

BRITAIN BACK ON HER FEET

Atlantic Triangle Key To Future

The world's political and economic future will depend on the strength, cohesion and determination of the North Atlantic triangle—Britain, Canada and the United States—acting in association with other partners in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Sir Alexander Clutterbuck, High Commissioner for the United Kingdom, told a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel Monday.

"The power, resources, creative genius and world-wide influence of this combination are greater than the world has ever seen," said Sir Alexander. "If we can develop in this larger circle the team spirit that exists in the Commonwealth and make it clear to the world that nothing is going to be allowed to divide us, then we need have no fear."

Sir Alexander, speaking on "Britain Takes Her Place in the World Again," pointed out that 1950 saw Britain once again "standing squarely on her own feet." The ravages of war had been repaired and 8,500 new factories built. Exports at the end of the war were 30 per cent in volume of 1938 but were now 180 per cent of 1938, nearly double in volume and running at some $230,000,000 a month, he said.

"Looking back at those five years since the war and the unprecedented problems arising not merely from our own reconstruction but also from the political unsettlement of the world, I do not think we have cause to feel ashamed of the record," he said.

CANADA GETS GIFT OF TWO DESTROYERS

British Warships Crusader, Crescent Turned Over To R.C.N. By Britain; Refits Planned

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada was given two British destroyers Monday and took it as a sign that mutual aid under the Atlantic Pact works both ways.

It was announced in London that the 1,700-ton warships Crusader and Crescent—in Canadian hands on a loan basis since they were commissioned in 1945—are officially being given to the Royal Canadian Navy.

They cost about $4,000,000 apiece.

Defense Minister Brooke Claxton said "the transfer is warmly accepted as further evidence of the way in which the North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations are working together."

He promised that substantial alterations will be made "to convert them to the most modern type of anti-submarine destroyers."

The R.C.N.'s entire group of destroyers—eight in service, three in reserve—is being modernized for the navy's main role, anti-sub warfare.

CRESCENT HERE

The Crescent is on the Atlantic coast, the Crusader on the west coast. Both are training ships.

The $8,000,000 gift marked the first time Canada has been on the receiving end of N.A.T.O. mutual aid. She has sent hundreds of millions of dollars worth of arms to Europe and will soon be sending manpower.

The Crusader will carry Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh from Vancouver to Victoria and from Nanaimo to Vancouver during the Royal tour next month.

Esquimalt Advance Poll Dates Fixed

The provincial government has arranged to use Esquimalt Municipal Hall on Sept. 27, 28 and 29 for the purpose of taking the advance-poll in connection with the forthcoming provincial by-election.

Date of the election itself, although not yet definitely fixed, is expected to be Oct. 1.

ISLAND-BORN MARSHAL COMES HOME

Learned To Fly To Further Research

By HARRY P. McKEEVER
Special to the Times

Recently returned to his native Vancouver Island after an absence of more than 40 years is Air Marshal Sir Philip Livingston, K.B.E., C.B., A.F.C., internationally distinguished surgeon. He is living at Duncan.

After studying at Jesus College, Cambridge, where his ability as an oarsman gained him his blue in 1914, Sir Philip joined the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve as a surgeon-probationer in 1915. He was released in 1919 and qualified in the London Hospital.

Attracted by the then infant Royal Air Force, he entered that service. Following a brief spell as station medical officer, Sir Philip acquired his diploma in public health. Posted to India in 1920, his interest in ophthalmology, to which he has since made such outstanding contributions, was awakened. A diploma in ophthalmic medicine and surgery was taken in 1923, followed by a Fellowship of the Royal College of Surgeons, Edinburgh, in 1925. Equipped with these qualifications, Sir Philip began a serious study of the human eye, and particularly its behavior among airmen.

Realizing that a full understanding of aviation optics could be gained only by a pilot, he won his wings in Iraq in 1931. From then on his research and pioneer studies were carried on relentlessly. He designed and put into use his own special equipment for the improvement of night vision and eye muscle training. For his remarkable progress in this field he was awarded the Chadwick prize and gold medal in 1940. He received his knighthood in 1950.

Jet Pilots Find Mysterious Round Objects Much Too Fast

MITCHELL FIELD, N.Y. (UP)—Two air force jet pilots reported today they chased a mysterious, round flying object—traveling at a speed they estimated at 900 miles an hour—for 30 miles and couldn't catch it.

Wilbert S. Rogers, of Columbia, Pa., told Mitchell Field authorities that he and Capt. Edward Ballard, of Dover, Del., sighted the object Monday over Sandy Hook, N.J., while they were on a routine flight.

"I don't know if it was a flying saucer, but it sure was something I've never seen before," Lt. Rogers, pilot of the plane, said. "We couldn't have caught it in an F-26." (The F-86 Sabre jet is the United States' fastest jet fighter.)

Rogers described the object as white or silver-colored and said it was about the size of a fighter plane.

Lt. Rogers and Capt. Ballard, on a flight from Dover air base in New Jersey, said when they sighted the object they were travelling at 450 miles an hour at 20,000 feet.

Hans Gruber arrived back in Victoria over the week-end and will start rehearsals for the season's first concert on Thursday, the Victoria Symphony Society announced today.

First concert is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 3, and not Oct. 1, as incorrectly advertised.

Oct. 1 is the night of Victoria's Community Chest Drive as well as the Esquimalt by-election. In order to facilitate these events, the Symphony Society relinquished its regular Monday night opening and advanced its date to Oct. 3.

Members of the Women's Symphony committee are further assisting the Chest drive by campaigning as a body in the "Lights On" drive.

Worker Crushed By Falling Log

Clarence "Red" Shouldice, about 40, of Sooke Lake Logging Co., Leechtown, was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital this morning with serious injuries received when a boom log dropped on him. He was reported "resting comfortably."

An R.C.M.P. highway patrol car provided an escort with siren blaring through Victoria for the company truck bearing the badly hurt logger. Shouldice lives with his wife and family in a trailer at Leechtown.

Ming's to Host, Entertain B.C. Protestant Orphanage

The oft-forgotten children of the B.C. Protestant Orphanage are in for an exciting and wonderful time tonight. Through the generosity of Ming's Kitchen, Victoria's popular Chinese restaurant, the children will be first treated to a Chinese dinner, served in Ming's lovely Oriental dining room... after which they will be escorted to the Memorial Arena to see and enjoy Horace Heidt's Youth Opportunity Show. On the eve of this memorable occasion, the youngsters are anxiously looking forward to their first Chinese dinner.

Stuart Keate Will Address Conference

SEATTLE (AP)—The Pacific Northwest Trade Association will hold a general conference Sept. 17 and 18 in Missoula, Mont.

Advance registrations have been made by business men and government officials from the four Pacific Northwest States, Western Canada and Alaska.

The conference will give Alaska problems special attention. Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Daily Times, will be principal speaker at the concluding luncheon. The luncheon will be presided over by Fred D. Mathers, Vancouver, B.C. association vice-president.

Volcano Consumes South Pacific Isle

NOUMEA, New Caledonia (Reuters)—Almost 6,000 natives are grimly holding out in a tiny South Pacific island being slowly consumed by an erupting volcano.

A shipment of 300 natives who arrived at a neighboring island Sunday said that the remaining 6,000 refused to leave their homes. A total of 2,000 natives now have left. The island is a tiny speck named Ambirim—16 miles by 24 miles—in the South Pacific Outer Hebrides group.

McGill Head To Speak Here

McGill University's success story and the extent to which its Graduates' Society has been able to assist in post-war problems will be told to McGill graduates here Wednesday by James A. deLalanne, president of the society. He will address a dinner meeting of the Victoria branch at the Oak Bay Golf Club. There are 200 McGill graduates in the area.

Mr. deLalanne is in the west on an extended trip to meet society branches in Calgary, Vancouver, Victoria, Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

He will tell of plans for class reunions, nearly 30 of which are scheduled to take place at McGill this fall; of the growth in membership in the society from 3,100 in 1941 to more than 7,000; of the stimulation of interest in the Alma Mater Fund, which raised $61,000 for urgent university needs in its first year of operation in 1947 and last year added $121,000 to the university's coffers.

Sport Week

By JOHN LARDNER

Things are building up brightly to the fight of the year, Randolph Turpin vs. Ray Robinson for the middleweight championship, the Polo Grounds, New York, tomorrow night. Recently, at a world welterweight title bout, several hundred patriotic short-end bettors mutinied in Madison Square Garden and screamed for pieces of a referee's skin.

Not long before that, at a world light-heavyweight title bout, Dr. John Kearns, boxing's deepest thinker, went up and down a stairway 16 times in defense of the championship. After the 14th trip, fuddled by mountain-climbing, the doctor yelled at his champion Joe Maxim:

"Come on, we gotta win the last two rounds to save the title!"

"Whaddya mean?" said Mr. Maxim, looking down, stupefied, at his manager. "We've won every round so far!"

Notice that Maxim said "We've won," not "I've won." That's a tribute that all Kearns fighters pay to the doctor. Joe was pretty nearly right about the score. He had been beating Bob Murphy, a professional ditzie-thrasher, so badly that nothing short of thrombosis could have licked Maxim in the final stages.

Lardner

Maybe I say maybe—Dr. Kearns was betting strongly on his man, and wanted him to win by some safe score like 15-0. Or maybe those 16 climbs up to Maxim's corner, without a St. Bernard or some other loaded guide, had made the doctor forget which boxer was which.

He Should Go In Trgining

Think of the irony of Dr. Kearns' life. When he was younger and stronger and a great climber, his man Jack Dempsey knocked out practically everyone in the early rounds, so that Doc hardly had to use his legs at all, except in self-defense.

The only time Dempsey went 15 rounds (against Tom Gibbons), the doctor became confused and put out medicine inside his tiger's eye, instead of around it, thus costing Dempsey several heats. Today, managing a man like Maxim, who could not hurt you if he carried a rock in each hand, Dr. Kearns has to go the distance most times. It's saddening, but there it is, I guess.

Recently, Kid Gavilan of Cuba, the welterweight champion, who can take like a bull and give like a butterfly, defended his title against Billy Graham of New York's East Side, who has similar talents. It was a scene fraught with international complications. Next to me at the ringside, Mr. Eli Canel, a Yanqui who talks sweet, fast Spanish, was broadcasting the fight to Latin America. Now and then, Mr. Canel would speak of la maquina Gillette, into which, if one is a smart hombre, one may slip the sharpest edges ever honed.

'I'll Give You Such A Look'

Meanwhile, Mr. Gavilan drew blood from Graham's nose with a dirty look, and Mr. Graham retaliated with his favorite combination, a sneer to the navel and an overhand right to the chin.

All around me were writers from Britain, come here to watch the Turpin-Robinson match and anything else that moves. These lads were fascinated before the fight when the referee, Mark Conn, aware of the microphone and the television camera, read six chapters from the Marquess of Queensberry rules, and most of the story of his own life, to the fighters.

"My word!" said Mr. Clifford Webb of The Daily Herald of London. "In England, the referee simply says 'You know the rules, men. Just don't 'old.'"

Behind the British writers were clusters of friends of Mr. Graham, the contender. As you know, Cuba has been liberated, but the East Side of New York has not. There were many patriots, many agitators, in the crowd, rooting for Graham, their countryman, and betting on him.

When referee Conn cast the deciding vote in the split verdict against Billy, there was an instance of shocked silence. Then came a roar which made it appear likely that Mr. Conn had read the story of his life just in time.

Comes The Revolution

"They seem vexed," said Mr. Webb of The London Herald. Mr. Eli Canel murmured tactfully, to the Latin audience, that to shave oneself (afetarse) with la maquina Gillette was like finding the money.

"Wait till we organize!" yelled an East Side secessionist to Mr. Conn. Mr. Conn smiled thinly, indicating that he would be glad to wait.

Clarkson Scores Twice As Stamps Whip Bombers

Edmonton Eskimos lengthened their first-place lead to four points and Calgary Stampeders climbed into a third-place tie with Winnipeg Blue Bombers in Western Football Union action last night.

In Edmonton, 11,000 fans saw Eskimos overcome an early 6-0 deficit to wallop the runner-up Saskatchewan Roughriders 31-6 with an overpowering ground attack.

It was Riders' third straight loss. The revitalized Stampeders, up off the floor after dropping their first four league games, topped the Bombers 18-12 before 7,500 Calgary fans for their second successive triumph.

Rugged little Normie Kwong scored two touchdowns for Edmonton, Mike King, George Festeryga and Jim Chambers each going over for single majors.

Coach Annis Stukus converted all five. Eskimos picked up another point when Kwong roused veteran Ken Charlton.

Wingback Bob Pelling climaxed a 41-yard Rider march for their unconverted touchdown.

In Calgary, the Stamps took an early 6-0 lead, fell back to a 6-6 tie and then allowed Bombers to convert a touchdown after building up a commanding 18-6 margin.

Reg Clarkson made two short plunges for touchdowns and Calgary's other major came on a pass by quarterback Stan Heath to Sugarfoot Anderson.

Bob Shaw converted all three.

SOCCER PRACTISE

Britannia soccer team will practise at Central Park tonight at 6:30. All players are asked to attend.

YANKS FACE ROUGH SCHEDULE

Final Ten Days May Decide A.L. Pennant

New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians and Boston Red Sox resume their three-cornered battle for the American League pennant today after a welcomed one-day respite.

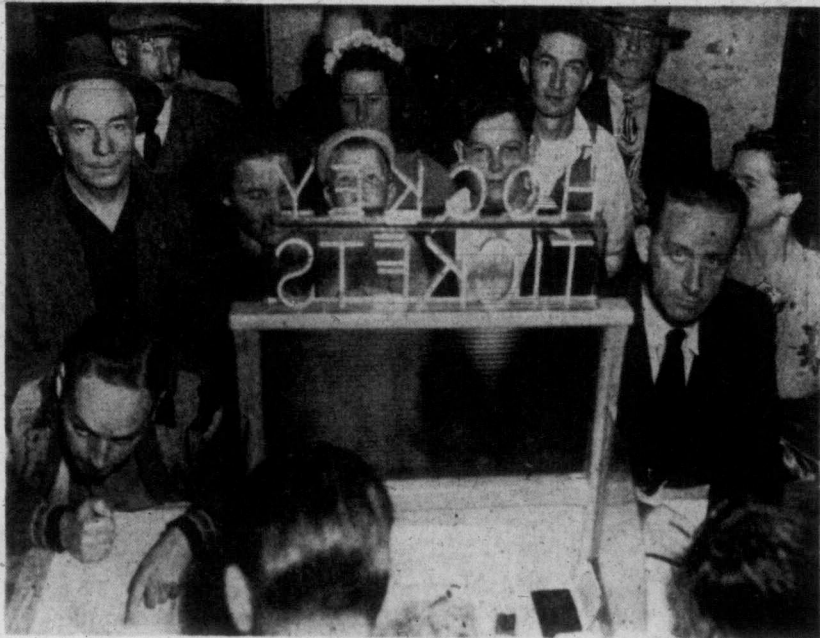

Cleveland, trailing the pace-setting Yankees by four percentage points, has the toughest road to travel. The Indians open their final eastern swing of the year in Philadelphia with a two-night doubleheader with the pesky A's.

Including the twin bill with the A's, the Indians are charted to play 13 games on the road before returning home for two single games against Detroit on the last two days of the season. Thus manager Al Lopez' tribe is confronted with the difficult task of winning the pennant on the road—a feat seldom accomplished.

Meanwhile, the Yankees, who play 16 of their remaining 19 games at Yankee Stadium, entertain the last-place St. Louis Browns in a doubleheader.

The only cloud in the Yankee picture is that the Bombers are booked to play the third-place Red Sox eight games during the last 10 days of the season. If the Indians enjoy a successful tour, they could slip home first while the Red Sox and Yankees are at each others' throats. The Red Sox, 5½ games behind, clash with the fifth place Detroit Tigers in Boston while the one-two teams are engaged in twin bills.

The Yankees and Indians clash in a two-game series at the Stadium beginning Sunday. After the big series the Indians invade Boston for a pair of games, and then head west.

They'll See The Cougars This Winter

The Cougar ticket office was the busiest place in town Monday as all day long eager hockey fans lined up for season's duets. General Manager Fred Hutchinson announced at the close of operations for the day that 500 such reservations had been sold, bringing to 1,500 the number of season ticket holders for this year. Last year there were 1,122. Part of the throng is shown jamming the wickets.

SEVERSON OUT FOR REST OF YEAR

After losing last night's lacrosse play-off game to Vancouver Combines, Victoria Shamrocks received some more bad news when the team physician, Jack Patterson, announced that Whitney Severson would not be able to play again this season. Severson, colorful and high scoring forward of the team, has been sidelined with a broken foot but there had been hope that the foot would heal in time for some of the playoff games.

Brown Ties For P.C.L. Hurling Title

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Ben Wade of the Hollywood Stars and Harold Brown of the Seattle Rainiers each ended the season with 166 pitching records to tie for top honors in the league, according to unofficial final statistics released today by William Weiss.

Sam Jones struck out 246 batters for the San Diego Padres this season, exactly 100 strikeouts better than the runner-up in that department, Seattle's Marv Grisom. Jones pitched 267 innings, more than any one else in the league, and had a .552 won-lost average.

Jim Rivera, Seattle outfielder, did the league's best batting, with a .352 average for the season. He was followed by Bill Boyd, Sacramento first baseman, who finished at .342.

Joe Gordon, Sacramento's manager and second baseman, had home runs and runs-batted-in honors with 43 full-circuit hits and 138 runs batted in.

The league's leading pitchers follow:

Name	W	L	IP	SO	W-L Pct.
Wade, Ben	20	10	260	246	.667
Brown, Har	20	10	260	246	.667

Scots Enter Soccer Final

WINNIPEG (CP)—Vancouver St. Andrews last night wiped out a two-goal deficit and went on to defeat Winnipeg Scottish, 4-2, for their second straight victory in a best-of-three western Canada soccer final.

'Stan The Man' Lives Up To Robinson Forecast

NEW YORK (AP)—When Jackie Robinson was asked last spring whether he thought he could win the National League batting championship, he replied: "Not as long as Stan Musial is in this league. That fellow is in one class. The rest of us are in another."

The averages today bear out Robinson's words. Musial, St. Louis Cardinals' one-man gang, is way up in the clouds with a .370 mark.

The second batter, Philadelphia's Richie Ashburn, has .340. Robinson is third with .338.

Following the big three in this order are:

Roy Campanella, Dodgers, .329; Johnny Wyrostek, Cincinnati, .316; Al Dark, New York, .313; Carl Furillo, Dodgers, .311; Ralph Kiner, Pittsburgh, .310; Monte Irvin, Giants, .309; and George Metkovich, Pirates, .302. The latter is the only newcomer to the top 10, replacing the Cards' Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey.

Musial also is tops with 11 triples. His 187 hits is second only to Ashburn's 195, and his 112 runs scored is bettered only by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh with 116.

"I'LL TAKE THOSE TWO," says Guy Meuffels, right, as he picks out his seats for the coming hockey season at the Cougar office Monday while Reg Martin, another eager beaver, awaits his turn. The season starts with the Cougars at Vancouver Oct. 5, and home against the Canucks Oct. 8.

MORE STUDENTS TO BENEFIT

Vic High Introduces New Sports Program

With a plan to offer more in sports to its students this year than ever before, Victoria High School will introduce an entirely new physical education and sports program this season.

Laurie Wallace will become director of extra-curricular activities with Gordon Hartley head of the physical education department. George Andrews will be the men's physical education instructor, sharing duties with Hartley. Girls' physical education instructor will be Sheila Stanley, who will be assisted by Georgina Buckmire, a McGill University graduate.

Workouts got under way yesterday for the rugby and cross-country teams. Basketball will start today with Totems having their first practise of the year.

Basketball looms as the major sport this year with more material on hand than in any previous year.

Plans for the girls' sports are not definite, but it is known that grass-hockey will start sometime this week.

One of the major aims of the new sports program is to get the maximum number of students participating in some form of sport.

Begin Workouts

The first training session of the Victoria City Police Boxing Club will be held at the police station on Fisgard Street tomorrow night at 7. Trainers Bill Knowles and Eddie Haddad will be present.

All boys who are interested in learning how to box are invited to attend.

Rocks Run Ragged By Gogie's Gait

Stewart Spark As Combines Square Series

By DENNY BOYD

VANCOUVER—There is a little guy playing for the Vancouver Combines who does not want to see the Victoria Shamrocks win the Mann Cup. Furthermore, if someone doesn't catch up to this little fellow and turn off his motor, the Shamrocks will not get a chance to win the Mann Cup, because—they won't get past the Combines.

This little fellow, who also plays soccer, is called Gogie Stewart. The distinctive thing about Stewart is that he runs and runs and runs and when he runs he makes the Shamrocks, noted for their powerful checking, wallow in his wake.

It was Stewart who led the Combines when they lost the first game of the intercity lacrosse finals in Victoria Saturday night, and last night it was again Stewart who led the Combines out to victory this time—a 14-12 victory that squares the series at one game apiece.

Stewart only scored one goal in the Combine win but his indomitable spirit in chasing after rebounds and setting up floor plays was the prime factor which resulted in the Rocks losing almost every face-off and loose-ball scramble. Dancing and prancing like an Arthur Murray fango student, the helmeted Gogie was a thorn in the Victoria big toe because they simply could not catch up with him.

Now there is a great guy playing for the Victoria Shamrocks who does want, with all his heart and soul to see the Rocks bring the Mann Cup to this fair city. He, of course, is Bill Andrews. A guy can't do any more than try, but it seemed that last night Andrews did a little more than just try. He blocked shots with every part of his body except the soles of his feet and he stood all alone in the face of the tremendous rushes of the Combines.

Where Bill's defense was all night is a mystery. It certainly was not the same defense that rocked the North Shore Indians out of their tepees and into the playoff bonfire.

Alex MacKay was the first man to slip his check and he put his club into the lead after one minute and 27 seconds of play. Stewart increased it to 2-0 on a skidding shot from a pile-up in front of the goal. Kenny Webb's goal, his first of four, put the Combines into a 3-0 lead before most of the 3,000 fans had settled into their seats.

Larry Booth, who is drawing a lot of praise from the Vancouver press, woke the Rocks up by scoring their first two goals within 25 seconds of each other.

Archie Browning, tied the game up with a long howitzer from the side but ancient Fritz Cavallin restored the Combine lead. Len Scott from Larry Booth made it 4-4 with only one minute of the first period remaining but Webb and Ed Hanson fooled the Rock defense for two goals and the period ended 6-4 for Combines.

Opening the second frame, Ernie Smith was left wide open and scored the seventh Combine goal right down the centre alley. After Swanson's goal, Shamrocks came back for a trio by Bob Managhan, Duff McCaghey and Browning, sandwiched around Cavallin's second counter, making it 9-7 at the half.

McCaghey, hero of the first game of the series, personally tied the game up as he counted twice in the first three minutes of the third period. However, Webb scored two more and Swanson one to restore the Combine lead, and the second game was history as things turned out.

Pittsburgh — Bob Baker, 216, Pittsburgh, stopped Dale Hall, 201, Chicago (3).

Stranahan Bounced From U.S. Amateur

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP)—It doesn't pay to be a favorite in the 51st annual National Amateur Golf Championship. If you don't believe it, ask handsome Frank Stranahan, Toledo strongboy; big Bill Campbell, former West Virginia legislator, or Bobby Knowles, French amateur champion from Boston.

They were all mentioned as possible 1951 amateur kings. Today they're on the sidelines.

The big question among the 128 contestants left in the field at beautiful Saucon Valley Country Club is what famous head will roll in today's second round.

It could be defending champion Sam Urzetta of Rochester, N.Y., Walker Cuppers Willie Turnesa, Charley Coe, Jim McHalf, Dick Chapman or Harold Paddock.

Unquestionably the elimination of Stranahan was the opening day's most astounding event. The spark-plug heir, who lost the 1950 amateur to Urzetta in a sudden-death playoff, was ushered out of the competition by a week-end golfer. It was Frank's ninth futile attempt to win a National Amateur Championship.

11 GAMES THIS YEAR
Bob Kuntz, a 29-year-old marketing administrator for a chemical firm, rallied from a two-hole deficit with two holes to play to tie the match in regulation play, and then outgamed the bewildered Stranahan in the second of two extra holes. Kuntz, of Larchmont, N.Y., admitted to having played only 11 week-day games of golf since the first of the year.

The hex hanging over favorites didn't bother Urzetta, who turned in the most workmanlike job of the day in disposing of Eugene Zuspman, 36-year-old lawyer from Goodland, Kan. The undulating greens offered no problem for Urzetta's magic putter.

The opinion here is that it will take a good golfer, having a good day to stop Urzetta's rush toward a second straight amateur crown, a trick turned since Lawson Little won in 1934 and 1935.

Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, 1950 Canadian Amateur champion, was eliminated by Johnny Dawson of Hollywood, Calif., 2 and 1.

M.C.C. Takes Ashes In Test Cricket Win

TORONTO (CP)—The first of three test cricket matches between Canada and England ended Monday in victory for England by a margin of 141 runs. After the match, the "Ashes," symbol of cricket supremacy between Canada and England, were presented to R. W. V. Robins, captain of the touring English Marylebone Cricket Club, by L. J. H. Gunn, president of the Canadian Cricket Association.

The ashes are the remains of a totem pole burned in British Columbia.

The visitors left last night for Montreal, where they will play the last two matches of the tour. They meet all-Montreal today and between Canada and England.

The Canadians bowled and fielded exceptionally well in the match. Christen, the Toronto bowler, took six for 55, his full average reading seven for 80.

Faced with the problem of making 218 runs to win, the Canadians started confidently enough, but ran into a ruthless attack which set them back with a disappointing score of 76.

Percival, Robinson, Ralston and Hendy made small double figures to prevent a rout. The M.C.C. bowled and fielded superbly.

Nanaimo Included In Puck Plans

There will be hockey in Nanaimo and Kerrisdale this year. An executive meeting of the Okanagan Senior Hockey League was held Sunday, at which it was decided to approve a schedule that would include an interlocking schedule with two coast clubs and Western International Hockey League teams.

Each O.S.A.H.L. club will play one home game with each of the W.I.H.L. teams and Nanaimo and Kerrisdale. It was ruled that each club will make one swing through the Kootenays and one to the coast.

Double-headers may also be played at Nanaimo, Kerrisdale, and Spokane, but only the first game will count in the league standings.

The league will open Oct. 20.

Wise Boys In Quandary Over Randy-Sugar Bout

JOVE, BEASTLY PRICE FOR A FIGHT TICKET

LONDON (AP)—A plane load of Randy Turpin's fans took a beating from customs officials before they headed for New York to watch Turpin defend his world middle-weight boxing title.

Customs men seized hundreds of pound notes from the 35 passengers in what one official said was the biggest currency swoop ever staged at London airport.

British treasury rules prohibit travellers taking more than £10 in currency out of the country.

WELTERWEIGHT THREAT APPEARS

Unbeaten Gil Turner Spunks Ike Williams

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Gil Turner looked ahead today to a possible shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight title after demonstrating that, although only 20, he can stand on equal footing with his elders in the boxing world.

Young Gil proved that convincingly last night by hammering Ike Williams into helplessness 28 seconds before the final bell of their scheduled 10-round bout at Shibe Park. Williams weighed 144½, Turner 145.

Williams, former lightweight champion and a master of ring science, had trained hard for this one, because a victory would have given him the opportunity to try to recover his title from James Carter, the man who beat him earlier this year.

He stayed with Turner through the first nine rounds and appeared to have built up a slight edge in a very even fight until the final stanza.

But Ike, at 28, had tired badly and was ripe for Turner's two-fisted assault that started mid-way in the last round and ended at 2:32 when referee Pete Tomasco mercifully called an end to hostilities. There were no knockdowns.

It was Turner's 24th consecutive victory in an undefeated career as a welterweight, 21 of those triumphs coming on knockouts.

HUSKIES LOSE HEINRICH FOR AT LEAST SIX WEEKS

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Quarterback Don Heinrich of the Washington Huskies has undergone surgery for a shoulder separation suffered in scrimmage Saturday.

Dr. H. T. Buckner said "the operation was very, very successful" and only time will tell when the passing ace will be able to play again—"maybe six weeks."

Meanwhile, coach Howie Odell gave Heinrich's two first-line understudies, Sam Mitchell and Dean Rocky, plenty of work for the Huskies' opener with Montana Sept. 22.

JINGLE, JANGLE AS FOURSOME CARRY 2,000 SILVER DOLLARS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Skidroad was paved with silver here Monday night.

A couple decided to pay off $2,000 they owed another couple. Instead of writing a cheque, they withdrew 2,000 brand new silver dollars from the bank.

After the pay-off, both couples decided to go to a club to celebrate. They decided to park the money in the police station.

They dumped the coins in a wastepaper basket and jingled off to the Cordova Street police station. As the basket was being carried into the station, one of the party stumbled.

A fortune rolled down skidroad. Two policemen with flashlights helped out while the four chased the rolling coins.

When they all had been collected, they were put in bags. But all the bags wouldn't fit into the station safe.

When last seen, the four were jingling off happily down the darkened street.

High Living Cost Warm Labor Topic

Price-Rent Controls Advocated By T.L.C. Delegates At Halifax

HALIFAX (CP)—The Dominion's high cost of living was a hot topic again today as the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada moved into the stride of its annual convention.

The congress expressed "alarm" Monday at Prime Minister St. Laurent's recent statement that there would be no price controls at the present time and rapped the government for its "lack of interest" in the welfare of Canada and in not putting federal price-rent controls into effect.

One of the first things the convention did at the opening session was adopt resolutions looking for improvements in the old-age pensions set-up. It asked that pensions be provided for all at 65 years—as federal and provincial governments now are working out—but it said the monthly payment should be a minimum of $65 instead of the $40 in the current plan.

WANT FREE SERVICE

Another congress request was that, until there is a national health insurance plan, all necessary medical care for pensioners should be provided free.

On the Dominion-Provincial relations front, the congress expressed regret that not enough progress had been made on a number of matters including rent control and expressed "alarm" at legislation adopted at the last session of parliament which would enable the federal government to restrict trade in margarine.

Other resolutions adopted by the congress called for:

1. Wider unemployment insurance coverage and increasing the insurance benefits for unemployed by at least 50 per cent. The top weekly payment for a single man now is $16.20.
2. Relaxation of unemployment insurance restrictions on married

B.C. Rapped For Not Aiding R.C. Schools

VANCOUVER (CP)—Refusal of the British Columbia government to give financial help to Roman Catholic separate schools today was called a "violation of the declaration of human rights."

A resolution criticizing the government for its stand on the separate school question was adopted at the annual meeting of the federation of Newman clubs, an organization of Catholic university students.

Meanwhile, one of two Catholic schools closed last April in Maillardville, near New Westminster, reopened Monday.

The second school remained closed, and there was no indication of an immediate reopening.

Funds for operating the school reopened at Maillardville will come from parents and parishioners in the municipality of Coquitlam.

There's a nice difference between National Kids' Day, Sept. 22, and such events as National Cheese Week and National Fish Week. Sponsors of the latter want you to consume more of the stuff they're sponsoring. The Kiwanis Clubs of the continent, who jointly support National Kids' Day, are all against cannibalism.

Their idea seems to be to protect the less fortunate kids from being chewed up in a carnivorous world. According to the publicity material, the day is set aside to assist underprivileged children to obtain some of the benefits normally enjoyed by more fortunate boys and girls; to focus attention on the accomplishments of youth; to further interest the general public in problems of juvenile delinquency and to assist the victims to become useful citizens.

IN VICTORIA the Kiwanis Club will give the project moral support, but the members won't be out raising funds on National Kids' Day. A lot of them will be home resting for the Community Chest drive, from which the youngsters who need help will receive their share.

It's not hard to enlist support for an underprivileged kid. The appeal is simple and goes direct to the heart. But what is an underprivileged kid?

Back in our teens a lot of us felt pretty underprivileged. We didn't have cars—not even family cars. Talk to the girl today who can't have a pair of saddle oxfords, a plaid skirt and a Braemar sweater and she'll probably figure she's underprivileged, too.

Social service workers are beginning to shy away from that term. They're not too keen on trying to define it. They've read the little saying that a lot of criminals have grown up in poverty and that a lot of great men have, too. They'd probably generalize by saying that an underprivileged kid is one without the intelligence or the moral fibre to make the necessary adjustments to living.

THEY DON'T discount the importance of a family's economic background. At the same time, they've seen poor parents raise fine youngsters who grew into first-class citizens. They've seen rich parents turn out some pretty sad apples among their progeny—sometimes through sheer neglect.

The social workers feel that a child with well-to-do parents may be in as much need of protection as the boy or girl in the home which finds it hard to meet the grocery bills.

Relatively speaking, there aren't a great number of slum families in Victoria. There are some, but it isn't necessarily that group that produces the so-called underprivileged child.

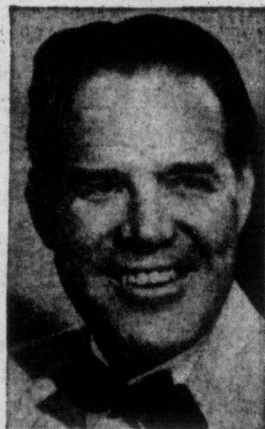

MAYBE WE OUGHT to do a little more thinking on the theme of rich-little-poor-girl and poor-little-rich-boy if we think of National Kids' Day. We're just a little too ready to measure resources in material terms. Some kids need practical help—the kind of help that pays grocery bills, buys an extra bottle of milk or two, puts a decent roof over a family's head and supplies clothing to keep small bodies warm.

That, though, isn't enough. Something has to be added, something which children enjoying all these essentials don't always get.

In Victoria, we're not going to have a fund-raising campaign on Sept. 22. We're going to have one at the beginning of next month—and it's reasonable to expect the Community Chest to draw sufficient support to look after that end of the problem.

IT'S PROBABLY better that way. The agencies giving attention to child welfare don't concentrate on one specific date only. For them, kids' day starts every morning—the same as it does in any worthwhile home.

ASK HEALTH PEOPLE. Admitting the committee had one in mind, he reported health authorities would be asked to give their view of it before any recommendation as to a dump location was put before council. As for the Transfer field, Councilor Wurtele said the works committee would undertake to use dirt fill to level off the area

Big-Timers Arrive For Arena Show

Impresario Horace Heidt and 50 entertainers from his regular radio and television show arrived in Victoria today, all set for their stage appearance tonight in the Arena.

Advance ticket sales indicate a sell-out house for the big show, to start at 8.30 under sponsorship of Victoria Lions Club.

Three of the show's artists, autographed records in T. Eaton Co. music and radio department this afternoon, and tonight four local entertainers will share the spotlight with the professionals.

If Heidt likes their style, he may pick one of the four as a permanent part of his well-known show.

Local artists will be Ron Gleaves, Bob Hurst, Ruth Porter and the Continentals, made up of Jack Beresford, Wally Grievie, Buddy Glover and Clare Anderson.

Cigarettes On Ration To Retailer

Victorians are threatened with a serious cigarette shortage.

Several popular brands are being rationed to storekeepers due to strike-bound Imperial Tobacco Co. plants in Eastern Canada. It was learned from Victoria wholesalers today.

Wholesalers said a serious shortage of cigarettes and tobacco is inevitable if the strike is prolonged. Already stocks are dwindling. Unless new supplies are available within a week, many brands will be exhausted, they said.

Wholesalers pointed out, however, they have adequate stocks of cigarettes, papers and cigarette tobacco made by other companies and for the moment there is no need to worry.

"If the strike is prolonged Victorians will have to switch to other cigarettes than Imperial Tobacco's," said one wholesaler. "Our stocks are limited."

Storekeepers confirmed they are receiving limited supplies of tobacco products. They are not yet out of Imperial Tobacco products. But they expect to be out of some of the popular brands by the end of the week.

It was pointed out that Imperial Tobacco supplies close to 75 per cent of the cigarettes smoked in the city. It is impossible for the smaller companies to produce enough cigarettes to meet the shortage.

Blind Fishermen Compete In Derby

NANAIMO—Seven boatloads of blind anglers, guests of Nanaimo Yacht Club, on Wednesday will show their sighted friends how to land the big ones.

They will take part in the first fishing derby sponsored by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and will have seven cruises and guides at their disposal.

Three Vancouver C.N.I.B. officials will be here for the event, to start at 8.30 and close at 2.30 p.m. Fishermen will be guests at a yacht club tea when prizes for the biggest catches will be presented.

George Kelly will have charge of the derby.

Duncan Angry Over 'Snub' In Royalty Plans

Mayor, Aldermen Want Stop-Over

DUNCAN—Mayor J. C. Wragg, who feels Cowichan District is being "brushed off" in arrangements made for the Royal visit, has his city council's support in making a complaint.

"I have unofficial information for the Royal couple here, that no stop has been arranged although arrangements have been made for 200 children to visit Nanaimo for a view of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip," he told the council, Monday night.

Council passed a resolution to urge provincial authorities to arrange for the Royal party to stop in the district.

Cowichan won the right to see the couple because of its enlistment record in two wars and support of Victory loans, Mayor Wragg said.

He also charged that letters from Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith were "evasive and unsatisfactory."

Local Racer's Condition Fair After Crash

Victoria racing driver Dave Cooper is in fair condition with severe burns on his face and leg, and a broken collar bone received in a three-car crash in Roseburg, Ore., over the weekend.

Cooper, who was one of the leading drivers at the Langford Speedway before it was closed two years ago, has been racing with other local drivers on the weekends at meets in the U.S. northwest.

In the Oregon accident, Cooper's car rolled over in a collision with two others, and a fourth car crashed the pile-up pinning the Victoria driver.

Bob Simpson, a second local driver, narrowly escaped injury while attempting to drag Cooper free with the assistance of a first aid man who was hit and suffered a broken leg when the fourth car crashed.

TOO MANY LURES SPOIL FISH FUN

Using fishing gear designed to catch more than one fish at one time cost Lancelot Charles Lake, Deep Cove, $150 and costs in Police Court in Duncan Monday. He pleaded guilty, but claimed he was not aware he was breaking the law at the time.

His fishing gear and the three salmon it caught were ordered confiscated.

Lake had rigged a trolling line with more than one lure on it, a practise banned by sport-fishing regulations. Conviction carries a maximum fine of $1,000 or six months in jail.

Price Of Pork Hits New Peak

Pork prices, which rose 10 to 15 cents a pound Monday, are expected to jump to new peaks within a week or two, city butchers said today.

The price increase is anticipated due to a temporary shortage, butchers said.

Pork chops are now selling in downtown meat stores at 85 cents and $1 a pound, following a price rise Monday of about 15 cents. Price of other hog cuts also took a jump of about 10 cents.

Butchers said a further price boost could be expected, but the increase would be only temporary.

"We expect prices will finally start to decrease in about a month," they said. "But before that comes we expect a further increase."

George Kelly will have charge of the derby.

To Study In U.K. On Fellowship

J. B. Nuttall, U.B.C. graduate, and his Victoria wife, the former Ruth McInver whose parents reside at 2934 Orillia Street, are shown boarding the Cunard liner Scythia in eastern Canada for England, where Mr. Nuttall will spend the next two years gaining a practical knowledge of Britain's engineering industry. He is one of 22 graduate engineers awarded Athlone Fellowships to further their studies. Mr. Nuttall, an R.C.A.F. veteran who made Victoria his home after being stationed here during the Second World War, met his wife at U.B.C. where she graduated with a B.A. this year. She has taken a teaching post in Aberdeen while her husband continues his studies.

WORTHINGTON HITS APATHY OF PUBLIC

National Civil Defense Head Here Today Says B.C. Group Doing 'Excellent Job'

Current public indifference is one of the greatest handicaps facing those charged with protecting the people and the productive capacity of the country, Maj. Gen. F. F. (Fighting Frank) Worthington, federal civil defense co-ordinator, said in Victoria today.

The civil defense chief held discussions with Hon. W. T. Straith and provincial civil defense planners. He said he was here to talk over future organization plans, and policies at the Dominion and Provincial levels.

Officials are only too anxious to fit into the national scheme and to take advantage of federal planning and to keep civil defense rolling at an ever increasing pace," said General Stein.

MAJ-GEN. WORTHINGTON

SOONER THE BETTER. A man with a mission, General Worthington feels that "civil defense is everybody's business and that the sooner the public shows an active interest in its own survival, the better it will be."

Although he made no direct reference to a recent incident where he criticized the federal government's attitude towards civil defense, General Worthington stated:

"The federal government is showing an increased awareness of the need for an amplified civil defense program and has given no authority to gear up the national headquarters to a high level of efficiency. We are in a process of acquiring key men from private industry and experience specialists to keep up the various activities needed if civil defense is to stand up in an emergency. The federal government is giving full support in my efforts to solve civil defense problems across the country."

PLEASED WITH B.C. The general expressed himself as being well pleased with everything he has seen in British Columbia, and stated Maj-Gen. C. R. S. Stein, provincial civil defense co-ordinator, is doing an excellent job, taking into consideration the difficulties of the terrain resources at his disposal.

General Stein said the organization plans presented by General Worthington would do much to iron out differences in approach, planning, priority and organization. He believed that mature plans, prepared by experienced experts, would be the first outcome.

Inquest To Await Driver's Recovery

Coroner's Jury Asks Adjournment Of Probe Into Traffic Fatality

An inquest into the death of Arthur I. Walden, 57, of 70 Maddock Street, who died as a result of a two-car collision on the Sooke Road last Sunday, was adjourned for completion to Oct. 11 by the order of Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, today at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlor.

After deliberating for 10 minutes, the jury, through foreman James O'Connor, told the coroner that they would prefer to hear the evidence of Mrs. Herbert J. Pendray, Lagoon Road, before arriving at a verdict. Mrs. Pendray, the driver of the other car in the collision, is still in the Haven Hospital, Sidney, suffering from shock and other injuries.

Mr. O'Connor said that the jury would also like a report from mechanical experts on the condition of Mrs. Pendray's car.

Evidence showed that Mrs. Pendray's 1951 Hudson crashed into an English Vauxhall driven by Mr. Walden on the Sooke Road directly opposite the Belmont telephone exchange. He died in hospital several days later.

There was testimony that the Pendray car, coming in the opposite direction, sideswiped a small car driven by Mrs. Tressa J. Speed and then collided head-on into the vehicle driven by Mr. Walden directly behind the Speed car.

George Speed, sitting in the front seat of the car driven by his wife, said the Pendray car suddenly swerved from its lane over the centre line "and hit our fender." The Pendray car then hit the Walden car behind. The Walden car finished up off the traveled portion of the road.

Dr. Ross McNelly, pathologist at Jubilee Hospital, said that Walden's death was due to heart failure. He believed that while the injuries themselves were not necessarily fatal, the blow from the impact caused a clot that cut off the blood supply to Walden's heart.

Mrs. Lora Walden, wife of deceased, still confined to hospital, said she saw the other car swerving toward the car in front "and that's all I remember."

Full Navy Status For Girl Recruits

Girls joining the new Women's Royal Canadian Navy (Reserve) are just as thoroughly in the navy as men, according to two officers who visited here today. Lieut. Margaret A. Beck, Toronto, and Lieut. Myrtle Allen, formerly of Sechart, are very proud of being full-fledged members of Canada's navy, instead of in a separate service as they were during the war.

"We are getting an adequate number of entries for communications work," Lieut. Allen said today, "and have been pleased with the excellent and capable girls who have responded to our recruiting appeals."

The two officers, based at Ottawa, are visiting recruiting centres across Canada, and will go to Calgary from here.

Day Service Only

Operators of gas stations and automobile garages in Esquimalt will have to keep an eye on their clocks and calendars from now on.

Municipal council Monday night gave final reading to a new by-law, ordering all gas stations to be closed every day from 6 in the evenings to 7 in the morning, and to be closed all day Sunday and on eight major holidays. The holidays are New Year's Day, Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day, Remembrance Day and Christmas Day.

Two Risk Charges

Stanley A. Barker, Leticia pleaded guilty in police court today to a charge of false pretenses involving a worthless cheque and was remanded to Friday for sentence.

James T. MacDonald, a young Victoria man, was remanded without plea to Wednesday on a charge of forgery.

Both charges arose out of car rentals.

Murder Case Opens Session Appeal Court

Indian Fighting Hanging Sentence

The shadow of death hung over the Court of Appeal as it opened its fall sitting here today.

The court opened with the appeal of Martin Saxey, an Indian, sentenced to be hanged on Oct. 2 for the shooting of Louis Oscar, at Battle Bay, west coast of Vancouver Island, on Feb. 6.

The shooting was the result of a quarrel over a log.

The Indian was convicted on May 2 by a jury in Nanaimo. Mr. Justice A. M. Manson was trial judge.

Frank S. Cunliffe, K.C., of Nanaimo, is acting as counsel for the convicted man. The Crown is represented by Arthur Leighton, K.C.

Over 50 lawyers from Vancouver Island crowded into the small room of the Appeal Court to speak to their cases to be heard later in the month. Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran presided at the opening of the court.

The court set the date for hearing the murder appeal of Francis Stephen Sykes on Oct. 2. Sykes, a 16-year-old boy, was convicted of a sex slaying in Mission.

Also to be heard by the court are appeals from conviction on a charge of rape and possession of drugs.

Apprenticeships Being Studied By Labor Men

Clearing of bottlenecks in provincial apprenticeship schemes is being discussed here at the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of Administrators of Labor Legislation.

The officials are studying apprenticeship systems with a view to stepping up production of skilled workers—a big need in Canada's defense program.

A shortage of apprentices has been felt primarily because industry and the armed forces are competing for the nation's youth. To meet this situation, the skilled labor force must be increased, officials believe.

Mrs. Clara Beyer, associate director of labor standards division of the United States Department of Labor, Wash., who is taking part in the meeting, said she had great respect for civil servants. Anyone who points fingers at them is doing more to destroy the country than the Soviet Union, she added.

"Beware of anti-America propaganda emanating from the Soviet Union. Healthy criticism is essential, but nothing must split Canada from the U.S.," declared Mrs. Beyer.

Mrs. Beyer's late husband originated the idea of the labor management production committee in Canada. There are more than 780 such committees now functioning in Canada, she said.

Now Dolls Are Dressed Like Daughter—Fun, Too!

By PENNY SAVER

Like mother, like daughter—like daughter, like doll! It's all one merry-go-round! Remember the fun so long ago when mother was dressing her little girl in an outfit to match her own? Cute and even practical!

Now, of all things, you can get a dress for your daughter and a tiny one, identical, for her doll.

The dresses are in dainty washable materials and are only $5.98 for the set.

This lovely dress is only one of many for the little gal starting back to school. They are smartly styled and you will find that new colors and even new fabrics have been combined together. The new stock in dresses begins at $3.98.

Many of the frocks have full skirts and for this reason a new petticoat with removable hoop has been introduced.

It is delicately trimmed with lace and is elasticized at the top and the waistband. It sells for $2.25 and makes all the difference in the world to even the plainest dress.

Most stores have everything imaginable in nylon, but the one thing that we have not been able to get is nylon rompers. That is, we couldn't until now. They are just in, and as perky as can be. Nylon makes them nicer than ever. They are touched with embroidery and cost $4.25.

To save you wasting precious minutes you can buy a duck bottle holder. Sounds fantastic. I know, but a stuffed plastic duck has been introduced that cradles a bottle on its back. You can adjust the bottle to any angle for feeding and when your child passes this stage it makes a grand toy. Yours for $1.59.

For the young man at school there are nylon socks fashioned just like Dad's. They come in solid colors with a man-like trim up the side and have a three-month guarantee. Not to be beat at $1.25.

RELAXING HOBBY

If Nerves On Edge, Try A Little Sculpturing

MONTREAL (CP)—Sculpture as a relaxing hobby is recommended by Mrs. Herbert Hahn, recently arrived from Bavaria.

A new Canadian, Mrs. Hahn is convinced a surprising number of people could, with proper training and a little encouragement, enjoy the work and become so fascinated that every-day trials would be forgotten for the moment. She also says this work is good for highly-strung people by providing an outlet for their nervous energy.

No great amount of talent is required, the First World War nurse said. She became an expert by practicing the hobby for 30 years. "I originally sculptured portraits for my own enjoyment, but friends and critics convinced me I should make it a career."

From her experience in teaching in Europe Mrs. Hahn says children are the best pupils. "Sculpturing is just another form of play to them, and they have no fears or inhibitions. If only adults would express themselves with similar freedom, they would find the strain of everyday living considerably eased," she said.

Living in Bavaria after the war, Mrs. Hahn sculptured thousands of dolls for American soldiers. She switched to life-size portraits, but expects to go back to miniature work because there are very few apartments in Canada large enough to display life-size models.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

'Waistfull?' Now's The Time For Some Simple Exercise

Are you "waistfull"? If so, better get busy with a few simple exercises to slim that vital midportion. This is essential if you are to have a youthful graceful figure. No matter what age you are, if you have a thick waist your figure will look matronly.

The waist responds more quickly to special reducing exercises than any other part of the figure. You will see some difference after a week or so of faithful exercise.

Do this one: Stand tall. Twist your trunk to the left, bend and touch your right hand to your left toe. Turn trunk toward front. Twist to the right. Bend your trunk and touch your left hand to your right toe. Raise your trunk. Turn forward. Continue, alternating left and right.

This is an old exercise but it is often done incorrectly. Make it in four counts; twist, bend, raise trunk, turn trunk toward front. In this way the exercise is much more effective than when there is no definite twisting or raising of trunk.

This is another waist-reducing motion: Stand erect with your feet comfortably separated. Raise both arms overhead. Keep the arms in that position as you bend as far to the left as you can. Now sweep the trunk and arms across the body, bringing the fingers as near the floor as you can. Continue toward the right, raise trunk and bend to the right. This time bend trunk and sweep the arms toward the left, raising trunk and bending sideways to the left again. You keep the arms overhead by the ears during the entire exercise.

As you bend your trunk to the left, forward and to the right you make an arch or semicircle. If you feel thick through the waist and have rolls over the girdle you can remedy the situation by doing a few waist exercises every day.

If you would like to have my routine of exercise for this figure fault send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 8, "Are You Going to Waist?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Full details of this waist-reducing motion is given in today's Why Grow Old? column.

Milk Problem Discussed By Local Council

Heading a lively discussion on possible increase in cost of milk, at the first meeting of the season of the Local Council of Women, yesterday afternoon, were two guest speakers, D. W. Wakeklyn, city health inspector, and D. K. MacDonald, public health educator.

Mr. Wakeklyn spoke on problems of transportation regarding delivery of milk from producer to vendor and the consequent lowering of quality. Mr. MacDonald discussed nutrition and diets.

Members of the council, in discussing the Butte Lake situation, took the stand that there should be a further vote and not a party line-up when this question, as it is hoped, is brought before the Legislature. A letter concerning this will be sent to the provincial secretary.

The members also felt that "it is a shame to pull down such a building as Prince Robert House only to use the area as a parking space." They will recommend to city council that the building be used for recreational and educational purposes for people over school age.

President Mrs. A. M. Perry will represent the Local Council at the semi-annual provincial meeting at Nanaimo tomorrow. Mrs. A. J. Tullis submitted her report on "Our Aging Population" regarding recreational facilities for pensioners and senior citizens. Dr. Henrietta Anderson gave a brief address on the Greater Victoria Nursery School Association.

The council's tea, convened by Mrs. Bertha Parsons, will be held in the Y.W.C.A. on Oct. 10.

Named Sharon Kathleen

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ravey, Monterey Avenue, received the names, Sharon Kathleen, at a ceremony, Sunday afternoon, at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunns officiated.

Mrs. W. Turgoose stood proxy for Mrs. H. E. Pattam, Winnipeg, who is a godmother. Other godparents are Mrs. C. Clague, and Mr. George Davey, Calgary.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J. Davey, Victoria; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Kayel, Victoria, and maternal great-grandmother, is Mrs. E. Annadall, Victoria.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kayel, Oliver Street.

The gown worn by the baby was also worn by her father and other relatives in England.

For Bishop Of Newfoundland

Dr. and Mrs. Richard Spicer and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Patterson held a reception at the home of the latter, 2801 Tudor Road on Saturday evening, for the Rt. Rev. Philip Abraham, Bishop of Newfoundland.

Among those present were Rt. Rev. Ivor Norris, Bishop of Brandon, and Mrs. Norris; Canon and Mrs. George Biddle, Hugh Percy of Winnipeg, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver, Mrs. Moody, Mrs. Symington, Miss Heaps, Mrs. Montague Bruce and her brother, Capt. Paddon, Mrs. Trousdale and Mr. and Mrs. John Vickers.

Janet Hall Honored

September bride-elect, Miss Janet Hall, has been honored at several showers and parties recently by her friends. Miss Margaret Sanson was hostess to 30 guests at an after-five party in her McClure Street home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleve White, Terrace Avenue, gave a buffet supper for the affianced couple. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Hall, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dunsmuir, Miss Mamie Campbell, Seattle; Misses Mary Flannagan, Mary Naud, and Mr. Michael White.

Misses Margaret, Mary and Kay Clay, Linden Avenue, were co-hostess at an after-five party. Guests numbered 25.

Mrs. John L. Clay was a recent hostess at luncheon in the Oak Bay Beach Hotel in honor of Miss Hall. Guests were Mesdames S. M. Flanagan, N. B. Hall, A. Puttenham, Ottawa; Misses Joan Ellis, Vancouver; Mary Naud and Mary Flanagan.

Miss Ellis, who will be an attendant, gave a "spinster dinner" recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Ellis, Brentwood, in honor of the bride-elect. There were 12 guests.

Sharing interest with the Soroptimist Club, which marked its 20th anniversary yesterday, were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Green-slade who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

A joint party to honor both occasions was held at the Green-slade home on Cadboro Bay Road. The couple were married in London, Eng., and came to Winnipeg in 1911 where they stayed for six years before coming to this city. They have one son, Theo, in Toronto. Frank Thurlay proposed a toast to the couple and Charles Waring to the club, and cakes were cut in honor of the two events. John Pannell, who knew Mr. and Mrs. Green-slade before they were married, spoke at the anniversary party. Among guests were Mrs. George Fallow, Spratt, 4257 Cedar Hill Road, Melville, Sask., and Mrs. Alex Langford, Winnipeg. Both are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Green-slade.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. deLalanne of Montreal are spending a few days in Victoria. Mr. deLalanne, in his capacity as president of the McGill Graduates' Society, will address a meeting of the Victoria Branch of the Society on Wednesday evening. Mr. Robert S. O'Meara is president of the local group.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Foster, Ritz Apartment Hotel, Vancouver, are spending a few days at the Empress Hotel.

Mrs. C. M. Smyth, Sydney, N.S., is the guest of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Spratt, 4257 Cedar Hill Road. Mrs. Smyth plans to be in Victoria for a month.

Milestones In Club History Told By Past Presidents

Feature of a program arranged for first meeting of Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club, yesterday evening in the clubrooms, was a series of short talks by past presidents, on highlights in their years in office.

Speakers were Miss Margaret Clay, Mrs. Madge Hall, Mrs. Clare Lord, Mrs. Kate Farquharson, Miss Edith Parsell, Miss Minnie Beveridge, Mrs. Lillian Smith and Miss Marjorie Press.

Officers installed in a candle-light ceremony by Mrs. Clare Lord, were: Miss Elizabeth Forbes, president; Mrs. Marguerite Laughlin, second vice-president; Miss Frances Love, recording secretary; Mrs. Ruby Masters, treasurer; Miss Marjorie Hurst, Miss Nonie Kirk, Miss Ethel Kitts and Mrs. Mary Thompson, directors.

First vice-president, Mrs. Bessie Smith; corresponding secretary, Miss Verna Beck, and director, Miss Mary Cliff were out of town.

Luncheon Meeting—For the first meeting of the season members of Metropolitan United Church Woman's Auxiliary met for luncheon. Mrs. A. M. Holder presided at the business meeting that followed. Dr. A. E. Whitehouse gave the inspirational address and Mrs. J. Jones took devotions. Plans for a fall bazaar on Nov. 1 were made and Mrs. J. Jameson was named to distribute a new cook book for sale by the groups. H. J. Pendray was presented and reported progress on new extension to the church.

Happy Party When New Clubhouse Opened At Colwood

Members of Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club marked opening of their new clubhouse yesterday afternoon with a late afternoon party. Among those present were, left to right, Miss Isabella Shillabeer, Ernie Bayliss, Mrs. W. H. Yardley, John M. Morgan, Mrs. W. H. Lawson, ladies' captain; Edward J. Barnes, Mrs. Alex D. Straith, Mrs. H. E. Brown, Wilfred Cotton and Mrs. Elinor Muston.

Mrs. A. Blair Paterson, wife of the club president, left, with Mr. and Mrs. John Hart. Mr. Hart unlocked the door to officially open the clubhouse.

Mrs. Elizabeth Matson, right, and Mrs. W. H. Yardley Jr. cut special cake made for the occasion.

Thrift Shop Needs Donations

Thrift shop report given by Mrs. C. L. Aylard at meeting of Junior Auxiliary to Royal Jubilee Hospital featured a request for winter woollen underwear, socks and sweaters for women, men and children; shoes for school children of all ages; also religious books. Arrangements may be made to have donations picked up through a call to Mrs. Aylard, E 7985.

Mrs. Ronald Newell presided and Mrs. Lloyd Detwiller gave a report on the dance to be held by the auxiliary at Club Sirocco on Oct. 5. This "Victorian Cabaret" will be presented through cos-

Victoria Lodge, No. 83, Daughters of St. George, Wednesday at 8, Broad Street Hall. Rummage sale, Public Market, Wednesday at 9 a.m. Articles accepted tonight at the Public Market.

Miss Jessie Carlow, maid of honor, was crowned in peach taffeta, and bridesmaid, Miss Vera Charlesworth, chose green taffeta. Flower girl, Miss Patti Kendrew, wore pink taffeta. All attendants carried basket arrangements of mixed flowers.

R. M. Adamson was best man, and ushers were Rex Kendrew and Charles Tyler.

At a reception in Legion Hall, Sooke, R. G. Gibson proposed the toast. A three-tier cake topped by a miniature bride and groom centred the bride's table. Mrs. Cook chose a suit of hunting Fraser tartan with navy and white accessories, and a corsage of gardenias for her going-away ensemble.

The honeymoon will be spent motoring through the southern States.

"Mummy took Auntie's advice." "It takes seven colours to make true white," Auntie said. "One of them is blue. That's why you must use Blue in your wash. Just swish Reckitt's Blue through the rinse. It prevents that yellow tinge and you avoid taking chances with anything that may damage fabrics. Reckitt's Blue costs so little, mummy says, 'and out of the blue comes the whitest wash.'"

September Bridal Couple To Live On The Mainland

Lawrence Edwin Dickinson will take his bride, the former Verena Josephine Carslake, to live in Vancouver following their honeymoon at Qualicum Bay. The groom will resume his studies in engineering at the University of British Columbia.

Canon George Biddle officiated at the recent ceremony in St. John's Church for the daughter of Mr. Ida Marie Carslake, Central Avenue, and late Mr. Carslake, and the son of Mrs. Mary Dickinson, Vancouver, and late Mr. Dickinson.

Eric L. Adams gave his niece in marriage.

Frederick Chubb played traditional wedding music, and Miss Bette Le Motte sang "O Perfect Love."

An exquisite gown of ice blue satin with lace bolero and matching veil of tulle illusion was worn by the bride. She carried a prayer book on which was mounted a purple orchid with white heather.

Miss Hazel Mark, bridal attendant, chose a bluish pink satin gown and carried a sheaf of deep wine gladioli. Miss Arlene Ellis, junior attendant, was daintily attired in mauve net over taffeta and carried a bouquet of mauve sweet peas and chrysanthemums. Jack Dickinson, brother of the groom, was best man, and usher.

Bridge Tea—Plans were made at a meeting of the Alumnae, St. Joseph's Hospital, for a fall bridge tea on Oct. 10, with Mrs. G. Rose and Mrs. C. Lewis, bridge co-conveners, and Mrs. A. Deeks in charge of tea. Mrs. Ivan Moore presided and it was decided to have a home-cooking stall at the tea convened by Miss N. McMillan, Mrs. J. Woodhead and Mrs. J. Reid. Afternoon tea was served following the business session.

The couple will drive to California for their honeymoon. For travelling the bride chose a turquoise wool gabardine suit with slate-grey feather hat, grey and white accessories and a corsage of pale pink roses.

Plans Silver Tea

Plans were made for a membership silver tea and cards, in the Nurses' Auditorium on Sept. 20, from 2 until 4.30, at a meeting of the Senior Ladies' Auxiliary to St. Joseph's Hospital. Mrs. J. A. Cooney was named convener of the affair.

Mrs. T. Taylor presided and during the meeting Mrs. Blair Reed presented Sister Superior with a check for $511. Sister Mary Drucilla was introduced as director of auxiliary, replacing Sister Mary Peter who has been transferred to Nelson.

Mrs. G. Brady was named convener of the apron stall for a bazaar in mid-November. Mrs. Jones, fancywork; Mrs. P. Hornsby, home cooking; and Mrs. M. Morning, novelties.

Rev. H. Colvin officiated.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, David Hall, is the daughter of Mrs. Jessie Hall, Vancouver.

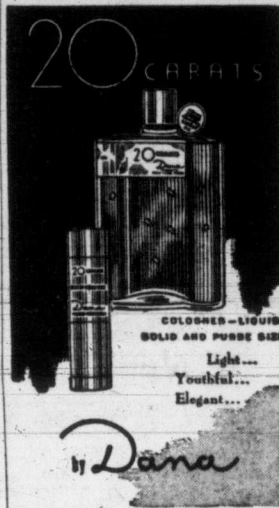

A gown of pale blue taffeta with net overskirt, fashioned ballerina length with short sleeves, was worn with long blue net gloves and a headdress of blue net. She wore a pearl necklace loaned by the groom's mother, and carried white gladioli.

Attending the bride was Mrs. Moira Jordan, sister-of-the-groom, wearing a grey crepe ballerina-length dress and a corsage of pink gladioli.

The groom had Jack McDonald as best man.

Later, the three-tiered cake, centred the lace-covered table decorated with sweet peas and lighted candles, was cut by the newlyweds.

Leaving for a mainland honeymoon, the bride wore a worsted dress styled with navy blue skirt and grey bodice, grey topcoat, navy blue accessories and a corsage of white gladioli.

BEDTIME STORY

by Thornton W. Burgess

For waste there cannot be excuse, for nothing is without some use.

Little Mrs. Hummer the Humming Bird was shingling her house.

You have seen houses shingled all over. Little Mrs. Hummer was shingling her house all over. That is, it was being shingled all over on the outside. She had told Peter Rabbit what she was doing, but that didn't mean anything to Peter. He didn't know anything about shingling or even about shingles. All he knew was what he could see. All he could see was that Mrs. Hummer seemed to be doing something to the outside of her nest. She would fly over to a tree, and down near the bottom of it she would seem to take something and carry it back to the nest. What she was getting from those trees he couldn't see and his curiosity was almost more than he could bear.

"I'll find out if it takes me all day," muttered Peter. He waited until Mrs. Hummer had stopped work to go get a lunch over in Farmer Brown's flower garden. As soon as she was out of sight Peter hopped over to look at the trees from which she had seemed to be taking something. He knew just

Abbott Says Money Fund Not Made Available To Needy

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The International Monetary Fund has been criticized by some of its governors on the ground that its policy has been over-cautious.

Canada's Finance Minister, Douglas C. Abbott, Monday defended the fund against charges that it is not making its funds more effectively available to member states beset by postwar and post-Korean war financial difficulties.

Abbott delivered the opening address to the annual conference of the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development in its capacity as chairman of the boards of governors of both institutions.

Inspector Learns Of Rates And War
Lloyd Smith, assistant sanitary inspector for Victoria, will return shortly from Edmonton where he attended the 17th national convention of the Canadian Institute of Sanitary Inspectors.

which trees she had visited. He visited each one, but when he had visited all of them he was no wiser than before.

"I'll just hide behind one of these trees and keep out of Mrs. Hummer's sight when she comes back. Then perhaps I can see what it is she gets over here," thought Peter.

So Peter hid behind the biggest tree and waited. He didn't have long to wait. He didn't see Mrs. Hummer come back. This is because she flies so swiftly. One moment she wasn't there, and the next moment she was. She seemed to stand still in the air close to the tree next to the one from behind which Peter was peeking around. She was at one of those grey patches of lichen. She backed off. Peter didn't think anything of that, but it really was something wonderful. She had flown backward for a foot or so, and that is something other birds can't do. Then she turned and darted straight over to her nest. She was carrying in the tip of her bill one of those lichen. Peter saw it. He watched her. He saw her place it carefully on the outside of her dainty little home. Somehow she fastened it there, Peter couldn't see how. Had he been close to that nest he might have seen that she did it with a tiny thread of silk spun by a caterpillar. She was shingling her home. The shingles were tiny bits of lichen taken from the trees.

Russians May Have Joined Jet Scrap

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA (AP)—Army sources said unofficially tonight they have reasonable but not absolute evidence that Russian pilots have taken part in the jet air war over North Korea.

The sources quoted a "quite reliable eyewitness" as reporting: He was present in North Korea when a Russian-type MIG-15 jet was shot down. A Caucasian pilot was found in the wreckage, apparently still living. A Chinese officer sent to investigate the wreckage shot the pilot, thinking he was an American.

Then the officer unzipped the pilot's flying suit, saw a Chinese officer's uniform, and gasped the Chinese equivalent of: "My God, I've killed one of our Russian brothers."

The eyewitness was not identified. The witness said so far as he knows the Chinese officer was not punished.

Nanaimo Hospital Faces Year's Deficit Of $18,000

NANAIMO—Nanaimo Hospital will have a deficit at the end of this year of $18,000, S. V. Isaacson, chairman of the Nanaimo Hospital Board, told the B.C. Hospital Inquiry Board at a public hearing in Nanaimo Monday.

At present the board here is operating with a continual bank overdraft. After the board had been operating two or three months this year, the B.C.H.I.S. announced that $18,000 would be cut from its share of B.C.H.I.S. revenue.

Only reason given was that the money had to be saved and that was Nanaimo's share. The payment of one-third by B.C.H.I.S. on new equipment has never been of much benefit to Nanaimo.

Suggestion that convalescent homes be subsidized by the Hospital Insurance Service to care for patients when able to be moved to these institutions was made to the board.

As an alternative, Dr. A. H. Menzies suggested that the service meet part of the cost of V.O.N. nurses who would make daily calls on convalescents in their homes.

The great difficulty was that patients had nowhere to go when they left hospital to receive proper care, and accordingly they had to be kept there at perhaps $10 a day whereas V.O.N. care would cost $12.5 a day.

Asked if B.C.H.I.S. had been beneficial, Dr. Menzies said it has been a continual battle of people to get into hospital to obtain free X-ray and other treatment.

William McGirr, hospital administrator here, said there was a large number of evaders of hospital insurance but William Neil, B.C.H.I. official at Nanaimo, put the number at only six to seven per cent unregistered.

'Driver' Tests For Operators Of Small Boats

The Canadian Merchant Service Guild, a national association of ship masters, mates and pilots, is advocating "rules of the road" and government marine safety regulation tests for all small boat operators.

The guild, which has headquarters in Vancouver, maintains in a brief to Transport Minister Lionel Chevrier that many small craft operating in B.C. coastal waters are handled by "most incompetent" persons. "Several near accidents have been avoided by the quick action of our certificated members," the guild states.

CONSTANT HAZARD
The guild declared: "The situation is developing to the stage where our members are operating under a constant hazard where guesswork as to the possible action of another ship is an everyday occurrence."

"No person may operate a motor vehicle without some form of license being issued, and in most provinces the license is not issued until an examination is passed as to the capabilities of the applicant."

"It seems peculiar to members of the guild that a driver's license is called for ashore while no qualification to operate a ship, such as a yacht or fish boat, is required under present regulations set out in the Canada Shipping Act."

Mark Anniversary Of Postal Service

TORONTO (CP)—The 100th anniversary of government-issued postage stamps and postal administration in Canada will be commemorated at the Canadian international stamp exhibition here Sept. 21-29.

The governments of 12 countries will participate in the exhibition, to be opened officially by Viscount Alexander, Governor-General. The countries include Australia, Belgium, France, Israel, Luxembourg, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Great Britain and the United States.

Japanese Still Hope For Empire Expansion

By SYDNEY BROOKES
TOKYO (AP)—An overriding consideration in Japan's post-treaty policies is likely to be her need and desire for recovery of overseas territory.

Japan has accepted the San Francisco treaty and its restrictions as an essential step towards full recovery of her sovereignty. There is, however, a growing belief here that neither the occupation nor the treaty has essentially changed Japan's urge towards expansion.

Americans in Tokyo consistently express their belief in the complete democratization of Japan.

Considerable doubt has remained among other westerners here as to whether the occupation powers' precepts have really penetrated so far.

Recent expressions of Japanese opinion have been taken here as suggesting that Japan's tendency towards authoritarianism has not been greatly weakened and that Japan's former leaders—as they reappear with the relief of post-war restrictions—will show themselves still convinced of Japan's need for an empire.

There was open talk of "asphyxiation" of the Japanese people if they must be confined in their home islands. There was openly expressed resentment at the loss particularly of the northern possessions now held by the Soviet Union.

ASIAN WOOL

WILL "COUNTING SHEEP" HELP YOU TO SLEEP?

If sleeplessness is caused by being overtired, nervous, run-down and worried — it takes more than "counting sheep" to help you sleep. Though you toss and turn, hour after hour, you can't "wish" yourself to sleep.

Many find that taking a tonic regularly is beneficial—and helps them rest more easily at night. And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is first choice with thousands! For the Vitamin B₁, iron and other needed minerals it contains are sometimes just what your system lacks. And Dr. Chase's Nerve Food does so much to build you up—by increasing appetite and improving digestion.

So if worry, anxiety, a run-down condition or the strenuous pace of modern living is upsetting your nerves so you can't relax and rest—try taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for a while. The name "Dr. Chase" is your assurance.

Has "P.O." put you in the dog house?

Rovers Hold 'Moot' In Canada

Canada's first Boy Scout national Rover "moot" had 200 scouts in attendance at Blue Springs camp, near Acton, Ont. The scouts came from all parts of Canada with a special contingent arriving from Europe. Here, Andy Panchuk, Hamilton, Ont., is seen showing Fred Barrett, Toronto, and Jim Tait, Southport, P.E.I., how an archer notches his bow.

Tax Collector Baffles Council

Money Saved In Pipe Plant Lost In Taxes

Esquimalt Council at this moment has some grave doubts about free enterprise.

Council decided some time ago that the cost of concrete drain pipe was more than it could afford so, through ingenious planning by heads of its works department, it devised a way of making the pipe itself.

Recently, however, G. A. Yardley, collector of customs and excise tax in Victoria, got wind of the operation. As a result, he's served notice on council that since it has entered the field of manufacturing—a taxable operation—it must file a report as to just how much pipe it has made and be prepared to pay sales tax on it.

Council's immediate reaction to Mr. Yardley's demand was to refer the whole question to municipal solicitor G. H. Sedger, with an appeal to find some way to avoid the tax.

NO WAY OUT

At Monday night's council meeting, Mr. Sedger sadly replied there is no way out.

"Even though the goods manufactured were not intended for sale, the tax is payable," he admitted. "It is difficult indeed to appreciate that tax is payable in respect of the type of pipe made," he continued, "while reinforced concrete pipe laid down in the street is not subject to tax."

Mr. Sedger's only advice was that council make a direct appeal to J. J. McCann, Minister of National Revenue, asking the municipality be exempt from the sales tax.

Council was quick to heed the advice. They voted to have Clerk J. W. Allan send the minister a letter right away. It was suggested if that doesn't work, help of other Greater Victoria municipalities will be enlisted to appeal further against the tax charge.
